"Whether it is a one off clean, a somewhat irregular service, or needed twice a day, we endeavour to meet our client's needs to the best of our ability," said Steve Wong.

Many cleaning companies in Australia don't employ cleaners directly, outsourcing their work to third-party contractors who use inexperienced staff, often on low wages. High staff turnover can cause many issues, like missed cleans and an inconsistent cleaning quality, causing serious problems for customers. Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co have vowed to take a different approach, by investing in staff training, increasing staff retention, utilising modern cleaning technology, working closely with suppliers and continually reviewing their processes. All staff are fully trained and have background checks completed, to ensure customers receive the strict safety and hygiene standards they expect. Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co has fully insured operations with Public Liability Insurance and Worker's Compensation.

Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co also understands that their customer's offices need to reflect their professional image, therefore, they provide cleaning services which will help keep employees healthy, drastically reducing the spread of bacteria as well as enhancing the presentation of the business to clients. "Medical centres which need to ensure all surfaces are properly sanitized after every clean, can rely on our cleaners to follow the strict safety and hygiene standards," says Steve.

Every successful restaurant and hospitality business owner knows that a stringent cleaning regime is essential. Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co provide fully trained hospitality and restaurant cleaners that will help ensure compliance with NSW OH&S requirements, this compliance is for the entire service range, from Commercial Kitchen Floor Cleaning, Kitchen Equipment cleaning to Vent, Hood and Kitchen Exhaust Cleaning.

"Our team of construction cleaning specialists have a vast knowledge about the materials and chemicals required to safely clean after a remodel or new build. Heavy duty vacuums to get all the dust out, to stringent chemical solutions to get paint residue out of every kind of surface, we can take care of the mess," says Sarah, a member of the cleaning crew. Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co can get to any site within 24 hours of a client getting in touch with them, this is to help ensure tight construction deadlines are met.

The company has over 10 years of experience cleaning childcare centres, they use their expertise to ensure that the specific needs and regulations for preschools, daycare or childcare centres are met, complete with ongoing quality checks by site supervisors.

Commercial Cleaning Sydney Co also has over 20 years of experience cleaning Gym and fitness centres in Sydney. No one wants to use foul smelling and sweat covered equipment, so their comprehensive gym cleaning programmes ensure being able to meet the stringent requirements of members, for disinfection and odour control.

Time and commitment has been invested into only using environmentally friendly and nontoxic products. Clean mops are used every time, and separate mop heads are used for toilets to eliminate cross contamination. Vacuums have filtrations systems to clean the air and lock in allergens.
