July 04, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

DSB Products is a new home and garden product company that has just launched their first product in a growing line of kitchen gadgets. With the release of their new silicone muffin pan, the Keller, TX company has broken into the Amazon U.S. marketplace.

"This is the newest (and first) addition to our new Happy Cook line, and the first product that we have available on Amazon.com", says D.S. Barnett of DSB Products. The silicone muffin pan is designed to provide perfect cupcakes and muffins every single time, because the silicone does not allow for sticking, as metal pans can do.

The silicone pan is dishwasher, microwave, and oven safe, and is the perfect addition to any commercial or residential kitchen. Available in vibrant purple, it is sure to give any kitchen an instant lift.

The awareness of the benefits of silicone baking pans has been growing for years. Silicone pans allow avid bakers to create cupcakes and muffins without worries of sticking, burning, or overcooking. Once the pan is removed from the oven, the silicone begins to cool very quickly, eliminating worries of over baking.

Jeff, a pastry chef from NY is a dedicated fan of silicone baking dishes. "I have used every imaginable pan in my career and silicone by far surpasses all the others. I use them at home as much as I do in the bakery, and this new muffin pan is quickly becoming my favorite kitchen tool. My muffins and cupcakes literally pop right out without breaking or crumbling."

DSB Products' new Happy Cook line will see additional products as the line grows. Barnett stated, "We have so many great products to bring to consumers. By the end of 2015, we hope this new kitchen line will have something for everyone."
