Coronado, California based Perfectly Vivid has released a new tactical flashlight that the company says is designed for late night dog walking. The product is available on Amazon and, according to a spokesperson for the company, is suitable for those who need to be out at night.

Dr. Christopher Vogelmann, owner and founder of the company, states, "Dog walkers should keep themselves safe with our durable, tactical flashlight. They need to keep their pets and themselves safe, and our flashlight is just the thing."

The flashlight, which can be seen at http://perfectlyvivid.com/, is a durable tactical product that is designed to withstand abuse and keep working. The company states that it can be used for dog walking as well as hunting, mountain biking, industrial maintenance at night, and as a weapon in self-defense.

"It's something that everyone can use in some form or fashion," states Vogelmann. "There are so many uses, and you can never have enough really good tactical flashlights." The company backs their claim of quality with a 100 percent satisfaction guarantee. He says that dog walkers, being out late at night, need something that they can depend on for safety and durability, and that their flashlight is designed with these needs in mind.

The flashlight can currently only be purchased through the Amazon marketplace. Those interested can see ordering information, as well as general benefits and specifics on the Amazon page at http://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B00RLTUOBI.

Perfectly Vivid provides a number of consumer products that are designed for durability. The Vivid Bright LED Tactical Flashlight contains a focusing lens and high lumen output. It is designed to be waterproof and has a multiple memory mode for different users. Constructed of aircraft grade aluminum, Vogelmann says that it is built to last 100,000 or more hours. He says that anyone who has to be out late at night such as security guards, dog walkers, or even those who simply enjoy a midnight stroll, should not leave home without a quality flashlight.
