January 14, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Navarre, FL. - Gross and Schuster, a law firm specializing in personal injury cases, is pleased to announce the addition of two new law partners, namely Rhett Gross and Tyler Gross - both personal injury attorneys in Navarre. They are graduates from the Florida State University College of Law. They have served as assistant Public Defenders and have been practicing personal injury law for several years, handling all kinds of injury cases.

The Gross and Schuster firm aims to increase awareness among people, regarding legal options and opportunities when involved in any kind of accident. Operating for over 40 years, the firm has successfully resolved thousands of personal injury suits, insurance claims, and other accident-related cases for their clients. Dedicated to quality, the firm focuses on giving clients prompt attention.

The firm was originally founded and named after Terence Gross and Charles Schuster, who are both board-certified specialists in civil trial law by the Florida Bar Association.

Considered as some of the best Navarre car accident lawyers, each of the two managing partners have more than 80 years of combined legal experience, with Terence Gross having tried more than 100 jury trials. Mr. Gross is also AV rated by Martindale Hubbell and has a 10 rating on Avvo.

The addition of two new partners brings the core team up to four, and each of these new attorneys brings a diverse skill set to the table. The firm will now be able to handle more types of injury cases, from car accidents, to dog bites, to slip/falls.

"It is our focus to help clients in need of our service, this is why we have new lawyers joining us. With their presence, clients will benefit from multiple legal opinions. This is a part of the effort of our law firm to protect accident victims against insurance companies," says Terence Gross.

Clients also appreciate the services Gross and Schuster, P.A provides. "I would recommend this law firm to everyone," says Karen C. "Thank you to Mr. Gross, his assistants and a special thank you to Greg. Everyone was friendly, professional and without question, highly attentive to me after my injury. I believe Mr. Gross cared about me and worked for me like I was his only client. Greg was wonderful, and did exactly what Mr. Gross said he would, settle all medical issues fairly for both me and my two insurance companies. Thank you for making the end of my injury better than I could have asked for. I will never use an attorney in the future without speaking to Mr. Gross first. Thank you for being my partner in this matter."

The firm sets its core values around the client. "The most important thing that I've learned as a personal injury lawyer is that every client is unique," says Charles Schuster. "Every client has different needs when they get injured. In a case of an injury, a lawyer can work with a broken arm, but a laborer can't. The nature of the injury is the same, but the circumstances vary. That's something insurance companies seem to have a difficult time understanding - you must look at the individual. It is our goal to understand the fundamental needs of each client and provide them with the best legal advice and representation possible."

Their website, <https://grossandschuster.com/>, contains extensive information about the firm. Using the online contact form, individuals can discuss their legal problems and request a free consultation. The website also has sections dedicated to different types of car accidents, such as those originating from drunk driving and texting. There are also sections for wrongful death and personal injuries, where people can find legal advice and a course of action for what to do under different scenarios.

Besides Navarre, Gross and Schuster have offices in Crestview, Pensacola, Fort Walton Beach, and Milton. For any potential clients looking for a local personal injury attorney, addresses for all their 5 locations are listed on their website, along with phone numbers to call them. Additionally, a contact form can be submitted through their website, where clients can also request a free consultation. Furthermore, in case of severe injuries, the partner attorneys can visit clients in hospitals or at their homes for a free consultation.

Scott Silbert will remain with the firm as "of counsel" handling Maritime and offshore injury claims, as well as accidents in Louisiana and Mississippi. Rhett Gross is licensed in both Florida and Alabama as well.
