Aantex Pest Control Norcal recently issued a public advisory on the issues that pests like fleas can bring to a household. While dogs, cats, and other pets are often spoiled and treated as another member of the family, they can easily and unknowingly bring unwelcome guests into the home. Fleas are a common nuisance that pet owners are accustomed to hearing about, but what many pet owners don't know is that these pests can be extremely hazardous to the health of both humans and pets. This makes flea control a necessity for any household with pets.

Fleas are often carried into homes by pets, but once inside the house they can easily transfer to any other animals living inside the residence. The pests thrive off any warm-blooded mammal—including humans. Flea bites are usually painful, red, and itchy and can cause severe allergic reactions in some individuals and pets. They are also known to cause Flea Allergy Dermatitis (FAD) in dogs and cats, which is a skin disease found in pets that is the painful result of an allergic reaction to flea saliva. While fleas usually appear in the spring and summer when the weather gets warmer, they can appear during the colder months as well.

Fortunately for those living in and around the greater Sacramento area, Aantex Pest Control Norcal is a family owned and operated pest control service. With over 90 years of combined experience in both residential and commercial pest control, Aantex Pest Control Norcal has is well versed in the eradication of all sorts of pests, including fleas.

?The last few years, I have had a very big flea problem. I needed a flea exterminator and recently called Aantex to solve this years attack,? said customer Tom H. ?Our flea problem is finally under control, and everyone in my home had a nice night?s sleep. The people and the dogs thank you!?

Aantex Pest Control Norcal?s success is partly due to their Integrated Pest Management (IPM) strategies. Fortunately for their clients, these strategies do more than just exterminate pests one time. The first step Aantex Pest Control takes is to fully assess and evaluate the severity and cause of the pest problem. Their highly trained employees gather information regarding how the pests gained access to the building, and how long they have lived there. After the company fully exterminates the pests, they implement preventative techniques to discourage further infestations. Their perimeter protection service, for example, helps to continually keep pests out of the home after the initial extermination.

In the case of flea infestations, or other stubborn pest issues, preventative techniques like the perimeter protection service do not always work well because the bugs are carried into the residence by pets or other animals. For those looking for flea control in house, Aantex Pest Control Norcal offers monthly and bi-monthly services along with their one-time eradication options. This allows for continual extermination services so pests have a very low return rate.

?This is a great company; they are professional, reliable, and do a great job of keeping my bugs out,? says long-term customer Heidi B. ?I do a bi-monthly service and they always make sure to call me and let me know when they?re going to be out?then they show up and do a great job. I highly recommend this company to anyone who is continually trying to keep the critters out.?

Aantex Pest Control Norcal doesn?t only offer services in private residences. The company supplies commercial services in locations such as offices, hotels, schools and daycares, research and manufacturing facilities, malls, nursing homes, apartments, warehouses, and many more. No matter the location or infestation type, Aantex Pest Control Norcal will work with their customers to ensure all problem areas are pest free.

Those looking for more information on flea control experts, or experts on any type of pest infestation, may visit the Aantex Pest Control Norcal website. By selecting the ?Free Estimate? tab on the homepage, potential customers can fill out a simple contact form with the type of service they require along with their phone number and email address. Once this form is filled out, Aantex Pest Control will be in contact with those interested in their services and send an employee to the location to provide a cost estimate. This ensures that their customers are fully educated on the services that are needed to eradicate their infestation, and the problem can be taken care of as quickly as possible.

Visit the Aantex Pest Control Norcal's website for a full list of the services they offer. Their main office location, as well as driving directions, are listed on the site, along with their phone number and other contact information.
