There are a number of holiday gift ideas for those who have fitness enthusiasts on their list. One such item is the Govivo hydration belt. This is marketed as a running belt with water bottle, suitable for men and women alike. Since its original release, the belt is already receiving many positive reviews.

"Our hydration belt is just one of many gift ideas we have available for sports enthusiasts on your gift list," says Govivo's media director. "You can easily get rid of your holiday shopping stress by feeling the satisfaction that you have purchased a suitable gift for your loved one."

Govivo is known for its variety of products fit for those living an active lifestyle. Their reflective vest for bike riders, for instance, has long been a bestselling item. This vest comes with adjustable straps, which make it comfortable for men and women alike. Another reflective item in govivo's product selection is the set of reflective bands which can be worn around the arm, ankle or wrist.

If the runner on the gift list struggles to bring all the essentials while out running, a running belt made for large-sized smartphones will be sure to please. The elastic waistband is adjustable for waist sizes 28 to 46. One pocket can be used to hold cash, fuel, bars or small gear and the other for the phone to keep it from getting scratched.

The newly released hydration belt, meanwhile, comes with two BPA free plastic bottles holding 9oz each. It also has three individual pouches, allowing any belongings to remain in place undamaged. The large pouch is particularly suitable to smartphones, including the iPhone 6 plus, and the medium pouch easily fits credit cards. The smallest one, meanwhile, can hold running gel or keys.

The hydration belt has already received numerous positive reviews. "This is the second Govivo product that I have purchased and it does not disappoint," says one happy customer. "The belt itself is easy to adjust, fastens securely (great clasp) and is comfortable to wear. I do not have to fasten it super-tight to get it to stay in place while I run, which is a definite plus. The bottles are a nice size (not too big or too small), and stay securely in their pockets, while still being easy to access. The pouch is easy to get into with a smooth-gliding zipper and easily fits essential items such as a phone and keys. There is also a nice Velcro pocket on the pouch which seems very secure. I am so happy that I purchased this items - it makes my life easier."

Govivo is a family owned and operated business. The hydration belt and other Govivo products are all available on the Amazon marketplace. More about them, and the list of products that they offer, can be seen on their official website.
