

Rockwell Trading: Latest Update to the PowerX Analyzer Trading Software

February 20, 2019

February 20, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rockwell Trading recently announced the newest update in its top-selling trading software the PowerX Analyzer. This software is known for its ability to analyze stocks in just 3 seconds.

The most recent updates to the software include conservative default targets for Profit Target and Stop Loss, PT was changed to 2x ADR and SL was changed to 1xADPR. These changes were made based on feedback from conservative traders of the Rockwell Trading community. More updates will take place over the next few weeks to make trading simpler.

Markus, the CEO of Rockwell Trading, said the PowerX Analyzer System has made trading more enjoyable and easier. It is recommended that beginners should first get educated about trading before investing in any kind of trading software. At the free Rockwell Trading Bootcamp, the company will show new traders the basics of trading in a way that's simplified and easy to understand.

All interested parties may learn more about the bootcamp by visiting bootcamp.rockwelltrading.com.

A student of Rockwell Trading gave feedback on the PowerX Analyzer: "The software called PowerX Analyzer makes trading even easier. From what was learned in just two days, an additional $6,653.41 was made in a single week. The sky is the limit when trading. Rockwell Trading also offers a 4-day mastermind meeting that takes place all over the world and is definitely worth attending. It's important to hang out with successful people in order to be successful."

New technology makes it easier than ever to analyze a stock to determine whether to buy, hold or sell. There is no need to sift through the Wall Street Journal or watch the talking heads on TV to find the next "hot stock tip." With the PowerX Analyzer Software, making an informed decision is just a click away.
