April 08, 2019

April 08, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Traverse City, MI based River of Life Chiropractic is pleased to announced that they now sell Cannabidiol (CBD) oil to clients in the area. This allows people suffering from the fallout of injuries or other sources of chronic pain to seek relief without having to rely on "mainstream" substances such as opioids.

The Traverse City chiropractic clinic is able to help patients that face multiple kinds of persistent pain, including back pain, neck pain, joint pain, muscle pain, and so on. It may even be less common knowledge that chiropractors can even help alleviate more "everyday" sorts of pain, such as headaches. River of Life Chiropractic seeks to give patients the quality of life that they have always wanted, enabling patients to achieve their peak physical condition. In many cases, the clinic is also able to turn back the clock on several types of injuries"resetting a patient's body as close to normal as possible after an accident or sports injury, etc.

Amelia H. shared this review of her experience with the clinic: "I highly recommend laser treatment! I received a diagnosis earlier this year, "Sudden onset hearing loss," brought on by a suspected virus and allergies. I was referred to an ENT physician who did a hearing test and prescribed steroids. This did not help. I went to River of Life for laser treatment, and the ear canal swelling decreased markedly with each treatment. My hearing has improved significantly. The treatment is very pleasant as well. I have almost 100% of my hearing returned, and will continue for a few more treatments.?

As part of their mission to help their clients regain their quality of life, the clinic is now able to distribute CBD oil, giving those afflicted with chronic pain the ability to use a natural remedy to ease their discomfort. As chronic pain often makes even simple tasks a difficult chore in a person's daily life, this means that those who use CBD oil may regain their original mobility. As such, CBD oil fits in well with River of Life Chiropractic's own approach to wellness.

?I was impressed with Dr Caleb's dynamic combo of friendliness and skill at my recent appointment,? said another satisfied patient, Kurt B. ?He had a great balance of asking questions about my chiropractic needs, assessing them, then providing accurate solutions through his adjustments and ART work. He's very efficient with his time but I didn't feel like he rushed me in and out; he took time to hear my concerns and pinpoint the help needed. Highly recommended!?

CBD is one of 104 chemical compounds known as cannabinoids that are found in the cannabis plant, also known as marijuana. The plant is infamous for the "high" it causes when imbibed, usually as an inhalant or an edible, and the main psychoactive compound responsible for this sensation is called Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC). However, unlike THC, it is important to note that CBD does not cause any psychoactive effects in users.

It is this last feature, alongside its pain-relieving aspects, that makes CBD such an appealing option for those who wish to manage their pain without having to undergo the perception-altering effects of THC.

CBD oil is manufactured by diluting CBD from the cannabis plant with a carrier oil, such as coconut or hemp seed oil. While its most popular primary benefit may be pain relief, it also has the potential to help with reducing anxiety and depression, managing acne, lowering blood pressure, and so on. While CBD is known to present side effects such as diarrhea, changes in appetite, and fatigue, it is still considered by many to be a better alternative to substances like opioids.

Those looking for a suitable chiropractic clinic, or a reputable location to purchase CBD oil, may wish to contact River of Life in Traverse City.
