May 30, 2023 -
Tulsa, Oklahoma ? Jarvis International, an industry-leading provider of intelligence, threat solutions, and security services, is pleased to announce the introduction of its latest offering in Technical Surveillance Countermeasures (TSCM). This state-of-the-art solution is set to redefine security and privacy standards in both the public and private sectors.

Building upon three decades of experience, Jarvis International has once again demonstrated its commitment to providing the highest level of security services. The advanced TSCM solution employs cutting-edge technology and techniques to effectively neutralize potential information leaks and privacy breaches.

"Data and privacy security are the bedrock of any successful operation, and this is particularly true in today?s digital age," says Stephen Stimson of Jarvis International. "Our innovative TSCM solution can identify wiretaps, electronic eavesdropping, covert cameras, and other potential breaches, offering unmatched peace of mind for our clients."

The service is performed discreetly and professionally to supply clients with in-depth knowledge of vulnerabilities in both technical surveillance and communications. Once potential breaches are identified, Jarvis International helps clients take prompt action to neutralize them.

As a leader in private security services, Jarvis International?s TSCM offering is one more step towards fulfilling its mission to offer a comprehensive range of security solutions tailored to the specific needs of clients. Along with TSCM, the company offers a full suite of services, including security guard services, camera installations, and specialized investigations.

"Our new TSCM service is an embodiment of our dedication to protect our client's sensitive information and privacy," adds Stephen Stimson. "As the security landscape evolves, so do we. This service is yet another example of our forward-thinking approach to security."
