Regen Revolution, based in CO, is pleased to announce that they have completed the move to their new location in Denver. This new office will help the team better facilitate their ongoing dedication to providing top-notch healthcare through a range of regenerative medicine procedures.

The clinic's regenerative care treatments focus on non-invasive procedures for total body wellness and holistic recovery. These procedures include Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP) treatments like P-Shot and O-Shot as well as procedures for facial rejuvenation, hair restoration, joint injections, Vampire FaceLift(R) and Vampire BreastLift(R), anti-aging, pain relief, and neuropathy. Additionally, the clinic provides chiropractic treatment to aid in the management of pain, the recovery from injuries, and the avoidance of surgery.

A clinic spokesperson states, ?We have always tried to give patients something different,? explaining that the addition of cutting-edge regenerative medicine treatments has really struck a chord with Denver residents. "Our chiropractic care and physical medicine services have consistently produced fantastic results for our patients. All of the services we offer at our office are regenerative in nature. With our most recent rebranding, we are communicating our intention to provide the best in regenerative medicine, including PRP Injection Therapy various IV treatments, along with chiropractic and rehab therapies to our patients looking for treatments they can't get from conventional medical providers.?

PRP is used in the P-Shot and O-Shot procedures to treat issues with male and female sexual health, and in the Vampire FaceLift(R), and Vampire Facial(R), which are effective at restoring a patient's face's youthful contours. PRP scalp injections have been demonstrated to strengthen the follicles and result in thicker, healthier hair.

Several secure, numbing, non-steroidal, anti-inflammatory injections are also provided as part of the services offered by the physical and regenerative medicine clinic. Muscle fibers that have been strained or contracted for a while become less inflamed after receiving trigger point injections. Joint injections lower the inflammation in the joints to lessen pain and enhance function. The frequency and intensity of headaches and migraines are reduced by sub-occipital nerve blocks.

The clinic provides cutting-edge, non-drug and non-surgical treatments for peripheral neuropathy for patients who experience nerve pain or nerve damage that results in numbness, tingling, and pain in the joints that may incorporate several modalities. Patients can also rely on the Denver chiropractor for treatment using a variety of chiropractic modalities provided by its staff of chiropractors, nurse practitioners, and rehab technicians for conditions like arthritis pain, hip pain, knee pain, plantar fasciitis, neck pain, shoulder pain, elbow pain, lower back issues, sciatica, carpal tunnel, and more.

Chiropractic care is provided by the clinic for many different conditions. There is a type of chiropractic care that suits every patient?s needs, from injury recovery to injury prevention. Patients may benefit from the full range of chiropractic services, depending on their needs. The clinic offers pain management at the initial care stage. Better spinal function is achieved through corrective care and wellness care aids in symptom prevention.

Chiropractic manipulation is a meticulous process with little chance of discomfort. The clinic?s chiropractors also modify the process to meet the individual requirements of every patient. After receiving treatment, patients frequently notice improvements in their symptoms right away and decide to stay on their current course of action in order to maintain optimum health.

The clinic has consistently been able to meet and even surpass the expectations of those who live in Denver and the surrounding areas. Clients can expect the same superior service and consideration following the relocation of the clinic, which currently boasts an excellent reputation in the community.

One client refers to the clinic's skill at maximizing outcomes by combining chiropractic treatments and PRP therapies in her review. She states ?Cannot say enough praise about this company and the employees. They are friendly and attentive. I was having severe lower back, rib, and achilles pain. Had a consultation and was diagnosed with osteoarthritis in my spine. The program was rigid at first with 3x weekly adjustments, decompression, shockwave, and trigger point injections, but I can confidently say after six months I am feeling heaps better, with positive results from my follow-up appointment. 10/10 recommend!?
