Culver City, California - August 22, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Culver City, California ? A former patient recently left a top review for Muse Treatment and credited the drug and alcohol addiction treatment center for helping her become sober.

In her five-star Google review, Eva wrote that she had ?the best experience? at Muse Treatment, a full-service residential addiction treatment center in Culver City.

?The staff are attentive, kind and give the highest level of care,? she wrote.

Muse Treatment stands out among drug and alcohol addiction rehab facilities in California for its luxurious living accommodations, which aren?t simply bonuses for the people who stay there. Instead, these features, amenities, and surroundings are an important way to help patients feel relaxed and comfortable while getting the help they need.

But it?s Muse?s high level of care, affordability, and dedication to recovery that really set it apart, and it?s different from other options for drug addiction help because of its focus on offering a customizable approach to treatment. Every person is different, with different needs, pasts, health concerns, and future goals, and that?s why this ability to offer a treatment plan tailor-made for the individual is so crucial when helping people overcome addiction and co-occurring disorders.

In her Google review, Eva also said Muse Treatment is responsible for the life-changing improvement she was able to make as a result of her time in the facility.

?This program is the reason that I am sober today!? she wrote.

There are many reasons why Muse Treatment has become known as a top drug and alcohol addiction rehab provider in the Los Angeles area. Each patient is assessed, both medically and psychiatrically, upon intake to the program, with medical professionals then completing an individualized treatment plan based on the person?s history, addiction severity, and medical past. For many patients, treatment begins with detoxification, followed by a stay in inpatient residential drug and alcohol rehab that includes therapy, relapse prevention and education, and more.

But Muse Treatment?s expert staff also recognizes that for many patients, mental health and addiction recovery go hand in hand, which is why Muse also treats mental health issues like bipolar disorder, schizoaffective disorder, anxiety, depression, trauma, and sleep disorders.

Muse features a conglomerate of sober living homes, intensive outpatient services, detoxification, and 24/7 inpatient care. They have different locations, such that the city of Los Angeles acts as their hallway. They are able to provide safety and security throughout all locations, all while making sure that our clients don?t feel removed from society.

The focus of Muse is to create a community of recovery that is loving, healing, and inspiring so their residents can move forward in their journey to achieve emotional, spiritual, mental, and physical well-being. Muse accomplishes this through a combination of advanced clinical services and holistic treatments provided in a safe place to heal. Every resident becomes a member of their recovery family.

The mission of Muse Treatment and Recovery Center, ?Muse,? is to provide quality care and services to their clients. Muse Treatment and Recovery Center is also committed to maintaining a standard of excellence, respect, and integrity in all aspects of their operations. They strive to reflect the highest ethical standards in our relationships, and with those they come in contact with.
