Duluth, Georgia - August 24, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Atlanta, GA ? The Atlanta Institute of Music and Media (AIMM) unveils a revolutionary online music production degree, the Music Production and Audio for Media Online Degree (MPAM Online). This program is a breakthrough in online music education and sets a new standard for the music industry.

Aimed at empowering students with a comprehensive education in music production and sound engineering, AIMM's new program is set to reshape the landscape of online music education.

The MPAM Online Degree Program is meticulously designed to equip students with the skills necessary to excel as professional music producers. By offering this music production degree online and in an entirely asynchronous format, AIMM allows students to tailor their learning experience to their schedule, regardless of their geographic location.

"We're excited to bring our cutting-edge Music Production and Audio for Media program into the online realm," says Keith O'Neill, Senior Instructional Designer at AIMM. "Our curriculum is carefully crafted, ensuring our students receive a complete education that prepares them for success in the ever-evolving music industry."

The program's comprehensive curriculum spans various areas of music production, including music production techniques, audio for film and TV, and game audio production. Students will master the complete music production process for analog and electronic music production, from tracking and editing to mixing and mastering.

One of the standout features of the program is the pursuit of the globally acclaimed AVID Pro Tools Certification, enhancing graduates' competitiveness in the industry.

"The AVID Pro Tools Certification adds a valuable layer of professionalism to our graduates' credentials," notes Nite Driscoll, President of AIMM. "Combined with our comprehensive curriculum and emphasis on hands-on learning, our students are well-prepared to make their mark in the music production world."

The Atlanta Institute of Music and Media (AIMM) stands out among online music production school programs with its revolutionary MPAM Online Degree, setting a new benchmark in online music education.

AIMM ensures every student gains practical skills applicable to real-world scenarios. The program's emphasis on Ableton Live Training prepares students to excel in studio production and live stage performances, making them versatile and adaptable music professionals.

The affordability of AIMM's program sets it apart from many institutions, making quality music education accessible without a hefty price tag. Graduates of the program also benefit from AIMM's extensive industry network, ensuring they have access to valuable career opportunities, mentorships, and connections that can propel them to new heights in their careers.

The MPAM Online Degree Program can be completed in as little as 18 months of full-time enrollment or 24 months of part-time enrollment, providing unparalleled flexibility for aspiring music producers. Upon graduation, students are poised for success in various music production roles, including careers as music producers, sound engineers, and sound designers for film and gaming.

Prospective students and music enthusiasts alike are encouraged to explore the Atlanta Institute of Music and Media's music production online degree program by registering here.

With AIMM's legacy of excellence and its commitment to nurturing the next generation of music producers, this program promises to be a transformative step toward a thriving career in the music industry.
