A customer on Facebook said, "I was fortunate enough to receive services from Piedmont Paint & Finish via an auction item that benefited the Building Goodness Foundation. Charlie and William were extremely professional. Even though I was receiving their services for free, I never felt like I was not a paying customer. The team that was dispatched by the company went above and beyond by making sure fissures were caulked and gaps were patched to ensure a smooth, professional finish. The two painters arrived on time and finished the job on time even after having to deal with an unexpected 2-hour power outage. I can't say enough good things about the services provided and would recommend Piedmont Paint and Finish for any job large or small."

Reviews like these are a regular occurrence when it comes to Piedmont Paint & Finish's services, as the company has acquired close to 100 reviews, where customers frequently compliment the company's quick response times, quality service, and affordable prices. Even in the rare cases where the company receives a negative review, the Piedmont Paint & Finish team does everything within their power to remedy the unfortunate situation.

This attitude comes easily to a company that boasts over 20 years of experience in the field. Additionally, Piedmont Paint & Finish prefers to take matters into their own hands to look after their customer's interests. Through their website, the company hosts a diverse selection of resources for its customers, including some of their previous customers' testimonials, a comprehensive description of the company's services, and even a contact form where new customers can receive a free estimate for their paint projects. Kristie Huffman, a resident and business owner in the Charlottesville community contracted Piedmont Paint & Finish's services. In her review, she said, "My company hired Piedmont Paint & Finish to paint the entire store. A representative came in person and talked to me, explaining thoroughly, and even showing me samples of, what he and his crew were going to be doing. While they were on the job, the representative maintained communication with me every day, keeping me updated on the progress that they were making. The company's representative was very professional. The team that was dispatched to fulfill the job worked very fast, and they were very accurate, leaving a neat painting job result. I would recommend him and his crew for any painting job. I thank Piedmont Paint & Finish, and all of the staff that worked together to deliver this excellent result."
