The roofing company primarily uses asphalt shingles, including fiberglass asphalt shingles, timberline or architectural shingles, three tab shingles, and laminate shingles. These components include a water and ice shield, roof and deck protection, high quality shingles, attic ventilation and ridge-cap shingles for additional protection.

Roof.net also offers roof repair services. As the company states through their website, "Whether your roof experienced damage due to hail or wind or is simply dealing with old age, we can provide you with the best strategy to fix the problem based on your individual needs. One's home is perhaps the most important investment one can make, and it is important to keep one's home in good condition, especially the roof. A damaged roof means the building below is exposed to the elements, allowing rain and snow to damage the inside of the building that the roof is otherwise meant to protect. Picking the right contractor to repair a damaged roof is incredibly important, and Roof.net provides some of the most experienced roofing contractors in Virginia.

For emergencies that need immediate attention, Roof.net offers same day roof repair. Falling trees, severe hailstorms, and strong winds can cause heavy damage to any roof and leave one's home exposed to further damage. In cases like this, Roof.net's same day roof repair services ensure that no one has to spend days with their home exposed to the elements while waiting for a contractor to arrive and fix the problem.

Regular inspections of one's roof can help detect problems before they even become problems. As Roof.net says, "A roof starts to deteriorate the moment it's installed, so after a few years it is inevitable you will have problems. Having us give you a free roof inspection a couple times per year can stop roof leaks before they happen. As long as you take preventative steps, you may never have an emergency." The company's roof inspections help clients find issues with their roofs before minor issues turn into the need for an expensive roof replacement. They also offer roof cleaning which also helps avoid any future issues.

Roof.net has received a number of positive reviews for their services. One Google review from a client named Effe Sam states, "Great Roofing Company! I got my roof replaced on my townhouse, April 29, 2019. I had an issue with my roofing and I found this company online with 5 stars, and the reviews were excellent so I gave it a try. I contacted Ken and he responded immediately; scheduled a time to come to my home for a free estimate and quote. He was very knowledgeable, professional, delivered outstanding customer service, and was cool and down to earth. I paid for part of it and waited for my insurance to release the remaining funds. Ken was very nice and work with me for the outstanding balance. I was impressed by how neat and how quickly the work was done. I will definitely recommend this company to family and friends. Thanks Ken!"
