“Our newly released HP DesignJet T2600 36-inch Dual Roll PostScript Multifunction wide format printer is the leader of the DesignJet Technical range and there’s no question as to why,” says James, Product Manager at Global Office Machines.

He explains, “With dual roll paper capacity, a 39cm interactive touch screen for print, scan and copy functions, fast print speeds and an output stacker capable of holding up to 100 prints at a time, it’s clear that the benefits the T2600 provide far exceed anything else on the market. make this workgroup multifunction printer easy to manage, secure, control and operate.?

Thus, it has become popular among various kinds of users such as builders, engineers, architects, and anyone who requires high quality plan printing with accurate line quality and crisp text.

Meanwhile, with the HP Click software, printing has been further simplified, which means that workgroups would be able to complete projects in less time. Users are able to quickly digitise projects with user-centric quicksets, automated scanning, and post-editing capabilities. HP has also provided a solution to combat potential security threats. The HP Secure Boot and HP JetAdvantage Security Manager has been designed to keep the network and fleet of printers safe at all times, with additional features such as secure user authentication.
