Libby Banks Estate Planning Attorney Unveils Specialized Services for Blended Families

August 05, 2024

SCOTTSDALE, AZ - August 05, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
The Law Office of Libby Banks, PLLC, has introduced a new service to better help clients with their comprehensive estate planning needs. Known for its expertise in estate planning, the firm has launched specialized services tailored to blended families. The aim is to tackle the unique challenges faced by families with children from previous relationships, making sure their estate planning needs are effectively addressed.

This new service includes customized strategies to manage the inheritance rights of both biological and stepchildren, which can often be complicated. The firm aims to minimize potential family disputes and ensure a smooth transfer of assets.

Libby Banks, owner of the law firm, said, "Blended families have unique situations when it comes to estate planning. Our new service is designed to create estate planning strategies that fit these specific needs and circumstances. We know it's important for these families to have peace of mind, knowing that their assets will be distributed according to their wishes."

The firm places special emphasis on drafting documents such as last wills, living wills, and revocable living trusts to accurately reflect the blended family?s wishes. The service also involves discussing potential tax implications and other legal considerations relevant to such families.

For more information on how the firm assists with crafting a last will and testament or preparing a living will, clients can visit their dedicated pages.

Among the newer service additions is the creation of charitable trusts. This service allows clients to include philanthropic goals within their estate plans, ensuring they can continue to support causes they care about even after their lifetime.

In addition to specialized services for blended families and charitable trusts, the firm continues to offer a variety of estate planning services. These include creating revocable living trusts, asset protection strategies, and probate law services. The firm also assists with durable power of attorney and other estate planning documents, providing comprehensive support for all estate planning needs.

For those interested in learning more about revocable living trusts, further information can be found on their website.

Libby Banks added, "Our firm?s approach is both collaborative and compassionate. We take the time to understand our clients' unique circumstances, ensuring that their estate plans are tailored to their specific needs. With the new focus on blended families and charitable trusts, we are excited to offer more personalized and impactful services."

Educational seminars remain a key part of the Law Office of Libby Banks? community outreach. These seminars provide essential information on estate planning, asset protection, and the new services for blended families. The goal is to empower individuals with the knowledge they need to make informed decisions about their estate plans.

Free consultations are still a central offering of the firm, giving potential clients the chance to discuss their estate planning needs without any obligation. This aligns with the firm's commitment to making estate planning accessible and understandable.

Located at 5010 E Shea Blvd, Suite 205, Scottsdale, AZ, the firm serves clients throughout the area. Libby Banks and her team are dedicated to providing reliable and informed legal advice to ensure that their clients' estate planning goals are met. The firm also offers specialized services like LGBTQ estate planning and pet estate planning, ensuring that all clients find the support they need.

For more information on the new blended family estate planning services or to schedule a free consultation, potential clients can contact the firm at 602-375-6752 or visit their website to learn more about how an estate planning attorney can assist them.
