Sunsella, a company based in Las Vegas, Nevada, has revealed that their home and kitchen products are also available on Walmart grocery. The company is a provider of high quality home and kitchen products. These products include a stainless steel vegetable steamer, silicone vegetable / food steamer basket, bento lunch box, stainless steel water bottle, adhesive spice clips, multi-purpose cutter and chopper, and potholder set. More about these Sunsella products can be found at <https://www.amazon.com/stores/Sunsella/node/7914066011>.

"We are excited to announce that our home and kitchen products have become so popular, people are asking for them at Walmart," says Mike Law, a spokesperson for Sunsella.

One of the products from Sunsella is the silicone vegetable steamer. It is made of high grade food safe silicone that is BPA free. It has thick and strong sidewalls plus secure locking handles that make it easy to remove the steamer from the pan. It is foldable so that the pot lid can be closed when cooking to achieve ideal steaming conditions. It can be used to steam fruits, vegetables, dumplings, desserts, seafood, eggs, meat, chicken, and more. It is heat resistant up to 446 degrees F or 230 degrees C. And it is designed to flex and to follow the form of the pan or pressure pot.

Many customers who have tried the Sunsella silicone vegetable steamer have given it a five star rating. One example is Terrence W. who said, "The steamer rack that comes with the Instant Pot is more like a trivet. It will hold something large off the bottom of the pot, such as a chicken or a roast. [?] This steamer basket does a great job of holding a decent quantity of small pieces so they can steam properly. I use it in a 6-quart Instant Pot. I found the handles easy to grab even when hot."

Another popular product that is available from Sunsella is the vegetable steamer that is 100 percent stainless steel. It is for people who want to eat healthy. It provides the best way to cook fruits and vegetables for the reason that most of the nutrients and minerals are not destroyed. Of course, it can also be used for steaming other kinds of food, such as desserts, dumplings, seafood, meat, chicken, eggs, and more.

Customers, such as C. Hawkins, who have already tried this stainless steamer have mostly positive things to say about it. C. Hawkins, who gave it five stars, said, "I bought this to steam veggies in my 3qt instant pot, and it's perfectly suited for it. It can be opened up for larger containers, too, and it has three feet to support it, and a telescoping handle, which is its most useful extra feature."

And then there is the Sunsella Leakproof Bento Box Lunch Container. This is 100 percent leakproof, which assures people that they don't have worry about liquids leaking out and ruining the food contained in the box. This bento box can be used as a work lunch box and also as a student's lunch box. With these lunch boxes, people can plan and prepare their lunch for the entire week and then store these in the refrigerator. Every morning they can simply retrieve one of these boxes.

The bento box lunch container also has received many five star reviews. One example is the one given by Ceci M. She said, "This thing is really solid. The lids lining makes it completely leak proof which is the one thing I was really worried about. It only has 3 compartments but they're pretty big and can fit a nice amount of food in them. Great alternative to those $30 lunch boxes with "special" cases." A certain Ms. Elis also gave it five stars, and said, "I love these bento boxes. My son takes a sandwich, some berries, and some pretzels pretty much every day without fail and those items for perfectly in here without getting soggy or stale. They're easy to open and close and they clean well!"
