Charlotte, NC ? Century Painting, a local Charlotte business of more than 30 years, has launched a new website to showcase its residential and commercial painting services. The site details the company?s services as well as providing testimonials from customers.

?With every project, our goal is to offer the most extensive product knowledge, expert trade craft and the best finishes ? all at a competitive price,? said Jack Jordan, Owner of Century Painting. ?Our three decades of success shows that we know how to deliver on that promise.?

Century Painting offers a comprehensive range of Charlotte residential painting and home repair services, including interior and exterior painting, fire and smoke damage repair, wall paper removal and installation, eco-friendly painting solutions, historic home restoration, staining, varnishing and sealing, caulking, window glazing, epoxy floor coatings, pressure washing and cleaning, faux finishing, mold and mildew eradication, fence and deck staining and painting, and drywall repairs.

On the commercial side, Century Painting has worked with many of Charlotte?s established developers, builders, building owners and managers at locations including retail stores, restaurants, educational, government and industrial properties.

To bolster its credibility as a North Carolina contractor, Century Painting has passed the screening required to become a member of ServiceMagic's Screened and Approved Service Professional Network. This certification includes state level license verification, general liability insurance and bonding verification, criminal and sex offender background checks, bankruptcy, judgments, liens and records checks, and identity verification. Century Painting also maintains a strict drug-free policy, so clients can be sure their painting crew is both professional and trustworthy.
