

Vancouver WA Plumber Company Expands Service

October 11, 2019

October 11, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Henco Plumbing Services, a Vancouver WA plumber service company, has announced that they are expanding rapidly to meet the demand for plumber services in Vancouver and neighboring communities in Clark County, Washington. The company provides a full range of plumber services including general plumbing repairs. Their services include bathroom fixtures repair, sink repair, kitchen plumber repairs, water heater repair and installation, drain clog removal, and major plumbing projects like the water main and sewer line repipe, and more.

Owen Hendrickson, owner of Henco Plumbing Services, says, "We recently added two Journeyman plumbers to our staff. We also just purchased two service trucks. We're expanding our services and service area to provide better plumber services to homeowners and commercial business owners in the Vancouver Washington area and Clark County Washington."

Henco Plumbing Services offers both residential and commercial plumbing services. And they do anything from simple plumbing repairs to complex plumbing remodels. The company has a team of highly qualified contractors who are focused on complying or even exceeding the standards within the plumbing industry. For residential plumbing, they offer water line services, sewer line services, residential water heaters, trenchless sewer line replacement, trenchless water line replacement, and residential plumbing fixtures services.

The plumber company Vancouver WA residents can rely on, also offers commercial plumbing services. Not only do they service Vancouver, WA but also Camas, Woodland, Battle Ground, and more. Their commercial plumbing services are made up of commercial water heater services and commercial plumbing fixtures services. Commercial plumbing has to comply with industry regulations and the health code and the licensed commercial plumbing contractors at Henco Plumbing Services are well-versed in the various standards and health codes to comply with.

For their residential plumbing services, these are backed up by a 100 percent workmanship guarantee. Plus, they also provide a lifetime warranty for all major home repipe services, including full interior repipe, water line repipe, and sewer main repipe.

There are a number of reasons why a homeowner may discover problems in the home's sewer line hookup. These include tree roots in main line, clogged main line, corroded main line, broken main line, and a main line that requires replacement. Thus, it is vital to have a trustworthy plumbing company that correctly diagnoses the specific problem so that the necessary repairs can be made.

Meanwhile, the commercial water heater is an essential part of a commercial or business facility. These water heating units can be subjected to a lot of stress because of the large number of people who need what a water heater can provide. Thus, it is vital to make sure that the water is heating up properly. Henco Plumbing Services can offer advice and guidance on the size, brand, and type of water heater to install for a particular business. And with the free initial consultation being offered by the company, such advice will come at no charge for the client.

And then there are the commercial plumbing fixtures for the toilets, urinals, sinks and faucets, showers, bathtubs, pipes and valves, etc. for a commercial establishment. Henco Plumbing Services can provide in-depth inspections and thorough planning for a business, using their years of expertise and the expert knowledge of their service technicians.

One of the most common commercial plumbing services that they provide are for urinals and toilets as these are subjected to a lot of abuse during the course of a day. For toilets and urinals, the Henco Plumbing Services technicians can handle various problems, including wax ring replacement, leaky bases, consistent sweating, loose bases, clogs and septic blockages, handle replacement, and plunger replacement.

The urinal and toilet installation and repair services provided by Henco Plumbing Services are ideal for malls and shopping centers, restaurants and dining facilities, hospitals, medical and dental offices, retail establishments, apartment complexes, community and event centers, nursing homes and senior care centers, hotels and motels, schools and universities, and managed living facilities.

Those who are interested in the services of a plumber Vancouver Washington residents can depend on, can visit the Henco Plumbing Services website or contact them on the phone or through email.
