Blue Ox Heating & Air, an HVAC and plumbing services Minneapolis and Saint Paul MN company, has announced that they have recently launched their new website. The company offers plumbing and heating & air conditioning services in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. The company offers Home Protection Plans that give their clients peace of mind and safety. They would also like to announce that as usual, through the end of December, they are offering specials and incentives for customers. These specials include a free AC when a customer buys a furnace; 20 percent discount for senior citizens every Wednesday; and $49 free second opinions and free service calls.

Tom Gehle, general manager for Blue Ox Heating & Air, has expressed his excitement about the new website. It should be noted that they have been previously affiliated with a national franchise but they have recently integrated plumbing services into their HVAC services. Their newly branded plumbing business is known as Paul Bunyan Plumbing and Drains. And both their HVAC and plumbing services can now be accessed on their new website.

The two main categories of plumbing and HVAC services are represented on their site as Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox, respectively. This combination of plumbing and HVAC services is designed to provide homeowners with that "up north" clean feeling while ensuring that the by-products are not harmful to the environment in Minnesota.

According to Tom Gehle, all of their customers will receive a five star service. This has five components: they service a customer's home when the homeowner wants it; they treat the home of the customer better than their own; they fix issues based on how customers want them done; they are on time every time; and they stand by their work and their people. Furthermore, they often provide HVAC discounts Twin Cities MN homeowners are looking for.

Customers have provided positive testimonials about their work. For instance, John Smith said, "They create a level of trust based on their thoroughness that is uncommon these days. Actually a pleasure to have Ryan service my HVAC equipment because of his quality work and his customer engagement! I wish more service industry companies had people like Ryan!"

Their Home Protection Plan ensures that the HVAC, plumbing, and electrical systems of a home are monitored and inspected regularly by a professional and highly trained technician. This gives homeowners peace of mind because of the assurance that all of their systems are in proper working order.

As part of their Paul Bunyan Plumbing and Drains services, they offer boiler services, water heater services, and drain cleaning. For water heaters, they urge homeowners to call them if they notice rusty colored water, leaks, popping or screeching sounds, or the lack of hot water. With regards to boilers, these are expected to become less efficient over time as their parts get worn. Also, it may be advisable to consider newer models as these tend to have higher efficiencies. Expert technicians from the company are always ready to come to the aid of homeowners who suddenly find themselves in need of a professional to fix their boiler. They also offer drain cleaning services because kitchen sink drains, bathroom sink drains, and shower and tub drains often get clogged.

Meanwhile, their Babe the Blue Ox HVAC services are provided by fully licensed, bonded and insured technicians. They are North American Technicians Excellence certified and are a member of the Minnesota Heating and Cooling Association.

Gus and Molly have this to say about their HVAC services, "Walt did an excellent job detecting why our furnace made such a big noise. He went outside and found a bee's nest in the intake, which was causing the furnace not to get enough air! And he didn't charge for taking out the bee's nest! He was very thorough and very personable and we are very thankful for his knowledge because we thought that noise was normal for a furnace!"
