January 14, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Denver, Colorado based Creager Business Depot is proud to announce that they are helping local businesses thrive by distributing specialty and daily consumer products at highly discounted prices. Since 1958, Creager Business Depot has been helping many small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in the area by providing them with affordable products and delivering a friendly, quick, and easy checkout process.

As noted on the company's website, Creager Business Depot is a family-owned business that supplies a wide range of products at wholesale prices to local businesses in the greater Colorado area. In addition to daily grocery items, they also distribute hard-to-find items that include tobacco and smoking accessories, glass pipes and vaporizers, beverages and soda, Mexican products, health and beauty products, as well as liquor store and bar accessories.

"We've got you covered. Our full range of products include specialty items and unique things that you cannot easily find even from famous big-box retailers," says Chip Creager, owner of Creager Business Depot. He also points out that customers can opt to shop online and have their orders delivered directly to their doorsteps. Additionally, Creager states that they offer Direct Store Delivery routes for stores in the Denver front range area who want delivery and restocking on a consistent schedule.

"We invite you to come to our warehouse and browse the wide variety of products we have for your business, or browse our website to find the things you need. However, in the event that the product you are looking for is unavailable in both our warehouse and online inventory, we can assist you in procuring the items in no time," says Creager. Being a family-owned business, Creager asserts that their mission is to provide superior service to their loyal customers. He explains that their experienced staff are trained to provide a friendly service to assist customers in finding the items that they need and even help them load it into their vehicles afterwards. The company also takes pride in maintaining a fast and easy checkout process as well as having a spacious parking lot and an accessible loading dock. Furthermore, they help customers by offering merchandising advice, pulling orders in advance, and shipping products to locations in and out of the Denver metro area.

“Our main goal is to provide you with “The Best in Convenience.” That means you can find all the products that you need to service your clientele with us while receive outstanding customer service and shopping options and benefitting from a great pricing scheme so your business can thrive,” Creager adds.

Creager Business Depot is an established wholesale supply store that has more than 60 years of industry experience. They are preferred by many local business owners due to their dedication to providing quality products, excellent customer support, and competitive prices. They have been supplying products to a variety of businesses and SMEs in Denver, such as local convenience stores, liquor stores, smoke shops dispensaries, candy shops, grocery stores and ethnic specialty shops, and more. “If you are a local business owner who wants to get huge discounts and great deals to further maximize your profits, please feel free to visit our warehouse or shop online through our website. We regularly offer flash deals, daily and monthly specials, additional discounts, and more,” says Creager. Furthermore, Creager Business Depot points out that they do not charge any premium or membership fees unlike other warehouses, and customers can buy as little or as much as they want at discounted wholesale prices.

One of their many happy customers, Brandi Shapiro, says in a 5-Star Google review, “Let me preface this review by stating there will be absolutely no way for me to truly put into words how great this company is. From our first meeting, they have been genuine, honest, gracious, accommodating, and open to suggestions. Like all things in this world, nothing is perfect. However, Craeger is the first to admit that, and they are one of the best companies I have ever dealt with in fixing anything they can when something goes wrong. Their company values and standards are evident in every person I have met with, and this speaks to the quality leadership this company has. They are a true business partner. We are so happy to have them helping our business grow, and we wish them all the success they want.”
