February 05, 2016 -
Discreet Plastic Surgery, a clinic in Brooklyn and Manhattan, NY, is proud to announce that they have been voted as the best plastic surgery Manhattan has to offer. This came after a state-wide survey of people who have had cosmetic procedures. People were particularly impressed with the clinic's liposuction procedures.

Dr. Daniel Kaufman from Discreet Plastic Surgery says: "It was so nice to hear that we have been voted best in business. It is always good to see patients appreciate the work that we do, particularly with plastic surgery. After all, we make permanent changes to the way people look, so if they are not happy, it will be our fault. We really want to thank our patients for their continued support and trust."

Dr. Daniel Kaufman has been working in the field of plastic surgery for many years, making him a figure of authority in the field. He is known for his artistic vision, and also for his practical skills in the field of medicine. Graduating with cum laude honors from Binghamton University, the doctor demonstrated his passion for this field of work from an early age and he has never looked back. Rather, he is committed to his further professional education and always strives to improve his knowledge and skills. It is believed that this is one of the reasons why his clinic received the award.

Another reason why the clinic was noticed for the award is because of the many positive reviews they have received. "Even though I was a bit skeptical about the idea of any kind of surgery, I am so happy I did it," says Monique P. "I am now 7 weeks post op and my results are finally coming in. I underwent a tummy tuck to get rid of unwanted stomach sagging from having my 3 daughters. Now Im on my way to having my pre baby body back. Dr. Daniel Kaufman was outstanding and his staff were just as amazing. So happy I went through with it."

People are also encouraged to like the clinic's Facebook page so that they will be first to know about any updates and promotions.
