

Paul Reynolds Unveils New Launch of Cyber Security Consultant Service for SMEs

July 18, 2025

Solihull, UK - July 18, 2025 -
Paul Reynolds has launched a new Cyber Security Consultancy service aimed at SMEs and growing businesses in the UK, United States, UAE and other expanding markets. With more than 25 years of experience in computer science and security architecture, Reynolds provides board-level advice through a flexible Fractional CISO model.

This service gives organisations access to top-tier security leadership, focusing on strategies that tackle today's cybersecurity issues. Core offerings include cyber-risk assessments, ISO 27001 support, Cyber Essentials Plus audits, incident-response planning and secure cloud-architecture design. These services are ideal for companies that need robust cybersecurity without hiring a full-time in-house expert. Full details are available at https://paulreynolds.uk/cyber-security-consultant/.

The launch comes amid a surge in ransomware attacks, now averaging 1.7 million incidents each day. "SMEs face the same ransomware and compliance pressures as big enterprises, but rarely get board-level cyber guidance. Our service changes that," says Paul Reynolds.

The Fractional CISO model allows customised solutions that fit each business's needs. Reynolds draws on extensive experience across FinTech, HealthTech, legal services and public-sector projects to integrate security measures seamlessly into operations.

A recent FinTech case study demonstrates the impact of this approach: audit-preparation time fell by 60 percent while compliance was maintained in 50 territories. Further details can be found at https://paulreynolds.uk/portfolio/fintech-cyber-security-consultancy/.

"Paul turned our security from a cost centre into a competitive edge?cutting audit prep time by 60 percent while keeping us fully compliant," said the COO of a UK FinTech firm.

Reynolds provides ongoing monitoring and tailored updates as threats evolve. As a Fellow of the BCS Chartered Institute for IT and a certified multi-cloud security specialist, he focuses on modern, proactive defence strategies scalable across industries.

Additional project highlights, including the Ryan TaxPay? global tax-platform engagement, are showcased on his website. To learn more, visit https://paulreynolds.uk/.

By aligning security with business goals, Paul Reynolds helps companies worldwide build resilient digital environments and tackle cybersecurity challenges with confidence.
