April 30, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Seattle Marine in Bellingham has 3 additional Grundens Rain Gear wearables to their already extensive line of waterproof boating gear. They realize that even bad weather days can be fun boating or comfortable working days on the water if those in a boat are properly attired for the current weather conditions. This rain gear is useful to professional fisherman, recreational anglers and other boaters stay dry on even the wettest days. All three of these Grundens products are now available at both their Bellingham and Seattle locations.

The company's customer service representative had this to say about these products, "As people say, 'there are few givens in life', but if you live in Washington State, one of those givens are the inevitable periods of wet weather that blanket the area in the springtime. This wet weather does not have to take away from your boating time though. Seattle Marine has many pieces of rain gear that will help boaters stay dry in even the heaviest rain conditions. That is why we are constantly selling weatherproof boating wearables such as these three Grundens Products. They will help you enjoy a day on the water even under the wettest conditions."

According to company spokesperson, the Grundens Brigg 44 parka, not only helps boaters fight off wet conditions but will keep the wearer warm in the process. This product was specifically designed to meet the cold and wet weather needs of professional fishermen. It's made using 100% waterproof heavyweight PVC-coated poly/cotton blend material that will help the wearer stay comfortable and dry even under adverse weather conditions at sea. Specialty jacket features include a recessed neoprene cuff that will help stop water from traveling up the user's sleeves and an included hood. The advanced PVC coating on this parka not only makes it as waterproof as possible but it's also specially designed to resist oils and stay flexible in extremely cold temperatures.

For those fishermen that prefer a little lighter weight jacket than the Brigg 44 parka, Grundens offers a medium weight Clipper 82 waterproof parka is perfect. It comes in 4 stylish colors and also features a unique double secure storm flap and hood. The company spokesperson says that it's constructed using medium-weight PVC-coated poly/cotton blend fabric that resists oils and offers the wearer an unrestricted range of motion too. It has all the flexibility that a professional fisherman needs to feel unencumbered while they are working on a boat. Because of its medium weight material, the Clipper 82 hooded jacket is also great for multi-seasonal use.

For women boaters wanting to stay dry while on the water, they offer Grundens Womens Weather Watch Jacket. It is specially designed to provide a fit that feels comfortable and unencumbered while fishing or just enjoying a day on the water. The company spokesperson mentioned that this jacket is also extremely water-resistant due to its special durable nylon fabric with an added waterproof breathable barrier. It is made to stand up to the heaviest rain and wind-driven spray. She added that it also looks great and is well-suited for everyday use.
