June 10, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

New Medical Spa is pleased to announce a new weight loss medication system designed to help all those in need of losing some weight. Whether it is just a few pounds or many pounds that a person wishes to lose the new system is now available for consideration.

New Medical Spa says their system is designed to help suitable patients jump start their weight loss program. Not everyone is suitable for the new weight loss medication system of course, but those who have Type II diabetes, a body mass index (BMI) over 27, high blood pressure (hypertension), high blood cholesterol, or a family history of obesity may well be suitable candidates for help. A consultation with a practitioner will determine someone's suitability for this treatment.

Devon Stanley, a spokesperson for New Medical Spa, said, "Losing weight is rarely, if ever, easy for anyone of course, but our new weight loss medication system has been designed specifically to help those patients who are suitable for treatment to get a head start on that difficult journey to a lower and healthier weight."

New Medical Spa has made it easier for potential patients to speak to an advisor by providing virtual consultation options. These options enable someone to book a day and time that is suitable for them for an online consultation with one of New Medical Spa's practitioners.

Those who are interested in finding out more or booking an appointment can do so by visiting the company's website or their Facebook page where online consultation booking options are also available.

It is not just a weight loss system that New Medical Spa offers, however. Cosmetic dermatology solutions are also available. For those who wish to reduce the appearance of wrinkles in and around the eyes and forehead for instance, Botox is an option that can be considered. Botox is also sometimes used to treat conditions relating to bodily functions. Other options for treating facial wrinkles as well as wrinkles in other areas are available, and a practitioner will advise which is the most suitable during a patient's consultation.

New Medical Spa has high-tech solutions for treating various skin conditions. The Spa's lasers work by delivering wavelength specific pulses of energy to the desired treatment area. They can be used for treating acne, age spots, tattoo removal, hair removal, skin resurfacing, and vascular reduction etc.

Chemical peel treatments are also available from New Medical Spa and these may be used to treat wrinkles and fine lines, acne, oily skin, inflammation and redness, hyperpigmentation and melasma. The Spa says that chemical peels work by removing the top layer of skin over several days thus allowing a fresh, smoother and more supple layer to appear.

New Medical Spa also offers a non-surgical procedure known as a vampire facelift which was pioneered by Dr. Charles Runels. This advanced technique which is now used all over the world is claimed to make someone's face look firmer and younger without the need for an expensive and invasive surgical procedure. The procedure uses an FDA-cleared special handheld device called the SkinPen. The SkinPen contains tiny needles which create punctures in facial skin. Known as microneedling, the procedure takes advantage of the body's own natural healing process as it attempts to produce new collagen and elastin.

Mr. Stanley went on to say, "The vampire facelift is one of our most popular treatments for those wishing to try and improve the condition of their facial skin. Unlike traditional facelifts this procedure is non-invasive and is much preferred by many as it is simpler and much less painful."

New Medical Spa is headed by Dr. Teresa Camden, MD, FACSM. With more than 20 years of experience, Dr. Camden and her team now offers those in the Richmond, Virginia, area both cosmetic dermatology and weight management solutions.
