Atlanta West Jewelry Hosts Le Vian Trunk Show Featuring 2025 Collections

December 04, 2025

DOUGLASVILLE, GA - December 04, 2025 -
Atlanta West Jewelry hosted the Le Vian Trunk Show on November 24, 2025, at its Carrollton, Georgia, location. The event presented the 2025 Le Vian collections, which included Chocolate Diamonds and rare gemstones. Attendees viewed these items during the designated hours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The trunk show allowed examination of various jewelry pieces from the Le Vian line. These collections featured designs with specific gemstone combinations and metal settings. The event occurred at the Carrollton site, which operates alongside the Douglasville location.

Atlanta West Jewelry provides a range of services, including custom jewelry design. This process involves developing concepts, creating computer-generated renderings, sculpting wax molds, casting the pieces, setting gemstones, and polishing the final products. Customers select materials or repurpose existing items for these designs.

Shain Jackson, Co-Owner of Atlanta West Jewelry, stated, "The trunk show offered a platform to display Le Vian pieces that incorporate distinct gemstone elements for various preferences."

The event aligned with other activities conducted throughout 2025. These included Ladies Night on November 13, the Handbags & Diamonds Pre-Owned Handbag Event in October, the Annual Half-Off Sale in July, custom design sessions in March and April, a focus on graduation rings in May, and Father's Day gift selections in June. Such occurrences correspond to seasonal patterns.

Atlanta West Jewelry maintains inventory from multiple brands, including Gabriel & Co. and VAHAN, in addition to Le Vian and Pandora. The store's offerings extend to fine jewelry, diamonds, and engagement rings.

Services at the location encompass jewelry repair, stone mounting, appraisals, engraving, and watch repair. Engraving utilizes laser technology for detailed applications on different materials, applicable to dates, initials, or fingerprints.

The Le Vian Trunk Show highlighted collections with Chocolate Diamonds, known for their color properties, and rare gemstones sourced for the designs. These elements appeared in rings, necklaces, and other forms.

Tiffany Stovall, Co-Owner of Atlanta West Jewelry, remarked, "Events like the trunk show facilitate interactions with specialized collections that reflect current design directions."

Custom jewelry options allow the incorporation of personal elements into pieces, such as bridal sets or collectibles. The design team assists in rendering concepts into tangible items through the outlined process.

Atlanta West Jewelry has engaged in community-oriented activities, including the Hearts for Heroes event earlier in the year. This gathering recognized first responders, such as hospital staff, police, firefighters, and EMS personnel.

The store marked milestones with a birthday event in August 2024 at both locations. These efforts indicate continued involvement in the area.

The Carrollton location serves residents seeking jewelry options. The event on November 24 provided access to the Le Vian 2025 lineup during the specified timeframe.

Atlanta West Jewelry's custom design in Douglasville, GA, supports the creation of unique pieces. Customers provide input on gemstones and metals, with the team handling production stages from rendering to completion.

The trunk show represented one of several brand-specific presentations in 2025. Previous events featured different collections and themes.
