January 23, 2026

INDIANAPOLIS, IN - January 23, 2026 -
Urban Styles Furniture has expanded its bedding selection to include Tempurpedic mattresses at its Indianapolis locations, marking a significant addition to the company's sleep product offerings this month.

The introduction of Tempurpedic's advanced sleep technology represents Urban Styles Furniture's commitment to providing Indianapolis residents with access to mattress options known for their pressure-relieving properties and adaptive support. The expansion comes as consumer demand for quality sleep solutions continues to grow across the metropolitan area.

"Adding Tempurpedic to our product lineup allows us to serve customers seeking advanced sleep technology," said Fred Isaac, spokesperson for Urban Styles Furniture. "These mattresses represent a significant investment in our customers, and we're pleased to make them accessible to Indianapolis residents through our local showrooms."

The Tempurpedic collection now available at Urban Styles Furniture includes various models designed to accommodate different sleep preferences and body types. Each mattress features the brand's proprietary

TEMPUR material, originally developed by NASA to absorb the g-force of astronauts during shuttle launches. This technology adapts to individual body weight, shape, and temperature to provide personalized support throughout the night.

Urban Styles Furniture's decision to offer Tempurpedic Mattresses in Indianapolis aligns with growing consumer awareness about the importance of quality sleep for overall health and wellness. Recent studies have shown that proper spinal alignment and pressure point relief during sleep can significantly impact daily energy levels, productivity, and long-term health outcomes.

The expansion also positions Urban Styles Furniture to meet the diverse needs of Indianapolis customers, from those experiencing chronic pain to individuals simply seeking improved sleep quality. Tempurpedic mattresses are particularly noted for their motion isolation properties, making them suitable for couples with different sleep schedules or movement patterns.

Customers visiting Urban Styles Furniture can explore the Tempurpedic options through in-store demonstrations and consultations with trained sleep specialists. The showroom environment allows potential buyers to test various firmness levels and mattress configurations before making their selection.

Urban Styles Furniture has served the Indianapolis community for years, offering a comprehensive selection of home furnishings and decor. The company operates multiple locations throughout the Indianapolis area, providing customers with quality furniture solutions for every room in their homes.
