Scarsdale, New York based SeeBeyond Medicine is pleased to offer functional medicine along with a wide range of herbal supplements to their customers. The company seeks to help New Yorkers develop a healthier and stronger immune system during the cold season.

As noted on their website, SeeBeyond Medicine is a medical practice founded by Dr. Joon Lee, who serves as Medical Director at the facility. They practice what some may know as integrative medicine, a combination of traditional western medicine and functional medicine. For those unfamiliar with the subject, functional medicine is where a doctor works closely with the patient to determine how and why an illness has occurred in their body. By doing this, they are able to restore the patient's health by addressing the root cause of the illness.

SeeBeyond Medicine says, "Functional Medicine Practitioners use comprehensive assessments and testing to discover why you are not feeling well. The focus is on treating the underlying imbalances in the body and giving it what it needs to heal and prevent disease for a healthy future.?

Unlike more traditional forms of medicine where doctors give their patients medication to treat the symptoms, functional medicine approaches problems in a more holistic manner. It focuses more on treatment options than prescription medications, and it encourages the proper consideration of nutrition, exercise and supplement protocols.

SeeBeyond Medicine believes that functional medicine is the key to a quality life. Instead of medications for every symptom one has, functional medicine zeroes in on why the individual is not feeling well in the first place. The practice understands that every case is different from one another, which is why they emphasize the importance of having a personalized treatment plan that truly caters to each patient's unique needs.

In addition to treating and helping patients with their medical issues, SeeBeyond Medicine also has a supplement shop where customers can discover health supplements for their daily needs. Similarly, these products may be purchased online through their website. SeeBeyond Medicine offers their community a wide variety of products, including including their 14 Day Fit Detox Kit, which is good for those looking to detoxify their body relatively quickly.

More importantly, the practice wishes to highlight products that they believe are perfect for the coming cold and flu season. These products are designed to help and support a person's immune system in a more natural way.

One of their best-sellers is Immune Support, which is an herbal formula that is designed to create a healthy immune system during the cold and flu season. Immune Support contains natural herbs, such as echinacea, that support the body's natural killer cell activity. It also helps in the balancing of cytokines, which is a broad category for small regulatory proteins that are released by specific cells in one's immune system to, in a certain sense, communicate with other cells. The practice asserts that the standardized herbs in this formula contain optimal and consistent amounts of the most active ingredients. In fact, Immune Support is suitable for long term use and for any age group.

With SeeBeyond Medicine focusing on each of their patients' needs and providing them with personalized treatments, many of their patients tend to be happy and satisfied with their care. The company's dedication to the satisfaction of their patients is reflected in the reviews left by those who have tried their products and services.

In a 5-Star review, Facebook user Jessica Luth says, "Dr. Lee is an exceptional physician. We are truly blessed to have found her. Her holistic approach to each individual case and the time she spends with you explaining the details is what keeps us coming back. She has been there for my husband and I for years, even with us living all the way in Texas. We can't wait to get back to New York to see her again.?

In another glowing review, Facebook user Maxine Sloley-Raymond says, ?In the two years of visiting Dr. Joon Lee, I have seen significant changes in my appearance and how I have been feeling. My skin has never looked better, and I don't feel as tired and drained as I used to. I appreciate a doctor that takes the time to listen and understand your individuality as a patient and does not treat everyone the same by providing a blanket solution to all. She explains concerns and issues with me, and that is priceless. Many doctors can take lessons and learn this basic etiquette which makes a world of difference.?
