September 09, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Marion County has been the victim of a rising pest control crisis. Pests are adapting to everyday treatments which is allowing them to spread uncontrollably. This results in more families and business owners being bothered by pests in their properties. Luckily, Indianapolis Bed Bug Specialists just opened their doors and is providing top tier professional pest control services to Indianapolis residents. The company just opened late last week and has already helped hundreds of people with various pest problems on both residential and commercial properties.

The company offers three major types of treatments. Their custom treatments are their most popular because they are unlike any other treatments provided but other local companies. Each treatment is custom designed for the specific species of pest it is meant to treat. The company says that this allows them to perform treatments in the most reliable and affordable way possible.

Their routine checkups are also pretty popular because they prevent pest infestations from ever happening in the first place. These checkups are scheduled with each customer monthly, quarterly, biannually, and annually without a contract. Finally, their emergency services are popular for when people are caught with a dangerous animal or pest. People should never try to handle dangerous animals by themselves.

Indianapolis Bed Bug Specialists recently noticed a huge spike in the number of pest infestation cases in the area. A representative of the company recently said, "Pest infestations are worse this year than they have been in a long time. The main reason for this is people are using everyday treatments more than having professionals take care of the problem. These everyday treatments don't work like they used to because the pests have adapted to the chemicals that those companies use in the pest sprays and traps. Therefore, pests are able to grow and spread uncontrollably."

Indianapolis Bed Bug Specialists has shown the community that they are a trusted company to go with for any pest control needs. If anyone thinks they have a problem they should contact them by phone or on their website at <http://bedbugsindianapolis.net/>. They are open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. They are not open on Sundays. An exterminator at Indianapolis Bed Bug Specialists once said, "Pests spread quickly so if people think they have a problem they shouldn't hesitate to contact a professional."
