

Danbury Volvo Receives New Volvo XC60 Inventory

September 25, 2020

September 25, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

CT dealership Danbury Volvo is reaching out to share that the Volvo XC60 is now back in stock. The COVID-19 pandemic disrupted many supply chains around the world, and the dealership has been hard at work behind the scenes to re-establish their customers' ability to test and purchase the beautiful Volvo XC60. Today, should they wish to have a look at the dealership's Volvo XC60 inventory for themselves, they only need to get in touch with Danbury Volvo's representatives to get started.

The Volvo XC60 was designed to emphasize two schools of design, displaying a minimalistic yet modern attention to detail in the way it drives as well as the way it looks. This makes it a popular choice for those who want a vehicle that carries a sense of timeless craftsmanship, a sort of "modern classic" that car enthusiasts will look back fondly on even a hundred years from now. Danbury Volvo is well aware of the Volvo XC60's strengths, and this is one of the many reasons they made it a priority to get this car back in stock for their customers.

This compact luxury SUV gives drivers (and passengers by extension) the confidence of both comfort and control during every journey. Whether it is taken out for a quick grocery trip or spends hours on a quiet road, it is the perfect vehicle for all occasions. As Volvo puts it, the XC60 offers, "A drive adapted to you," which in practice means the driver may swiftly choose between five distinct drive modes that deliver different settings for the automatic gearbox, steering, brakes, stability control system and engine Start/Stop function. The four main modes here are Comfort, Dynamic, Eco and Off-road, but there is a fifth mode "Individual" that drivers can use to tailor each setting to their preferences. As the name suggests, this mode is designed exclusively for the distinguishing individual.

Danbury Volvo states that the Volvo XC60 has a starting MSRP of $40,150. Should the customer wish, additional equipment or arrangements can be made to ensure they receive the trim that suits their lifestyle the best. They may also elect to take out a XC60 lease, and the dealership offers excellent rates on this front. A new Volvo XC60 owner may lease it for $399 per month for 36 months (with $5,089 due at signing; all factory rebates applied and $14,364 in total payments). There is also a $28,373 purchase option. Certain conditions apply for this lease offer, so customers are encouraged to get in touch with Danbury Volvo's representatives to find out more.

Taking out a lease may be the perfect option for many drivers, given how flexible Danbury Volvo services are. For instance, should they wish to return their Volvo XC60, they will be able to enjoy the dealership's smooth return process. Similarly, the dealership's representatives can help the customer decide whether they wish to lease a new Volvo, buy out their current vehicle's lease or return the car.

Danbury Volvo also gives their customers one enormous advantage: access to factory-trained technicians at the dealership's service center. This means that customers can get their cars serviced by professionals who know everything there is to know about Volvo's vehicles, leaving out any room for error. The service center upholds one standard in particular that Danbury Volvo's customers appreciate: the right to expect a car will be serviced right the first time it is sent in. While the center places a high priority on getting their customers' vehicles back to them in a prompt fashion, they believe this must not come at the cost of diagnosing any issues, repairing or replacing what is needed and finally testing the vehicle to make sure any issues have truly been taken care of.

This can be seen in the reviews customers leave online. John Sousoulas' 5-Star Google review states, for instance, "Great customer service, a beautiful dealership and getting everything signed was a breeze. My salesperson, Carlo Juliana, was very courteous and called me the night before I arrived to assure me that the car had been detailed and ready for me. When I arrived, all my paperwork was ready and the car was immaculate. I would recommend this dealership to anyone."

Those interested may learn more about the Volvo XC60, the dealership, their attractive Volvo lease deals and even their Volvo service on the Danbury Volvo website. Similarly, customers may contact Chris Gavin of Danbury Volvo if they wish to discuss any further inquiries.
