Mac Daddy Carpet and Tile Cleaning's carpet cleaning procedure follows a 3-step process designed to effectively cleanse and restore a carpet to a "like-new" condition. The first stage the company uses an emulsifier that breaks down oil and grease, lifting soil and contaminants to be easily removed during step two. The next phase is agitation. Depending on the condition of the carpet the technicians may use a special machine called a "CRB" counter rotating brush. This method agitates the emulsifier deep into the carpet fibers. Lastly is a Drypass. This method dries a carpet 60-70% faster than conventional methods. Using a truck-mounted, high-powered vacuum, the skilled team is able to perform an extra pass over the carpet to extract excess water, which allows the carpet to dry completely within 3-4 hours.

Hot Water Extraction, or steam cleaning, is the company's main cleaning technique, which is recommended by most carpet manufacturers in order to keep the warranty intact (particularly for certain types of carpeting). The company's cleaning systems are endorsed by America's leading consumer magazine ? and are approved and recommended by all major carpet manufacturers. The company takes this endorsement very seriously and strives to live up to and beyond this standard every day. Learn more here: Carpet Cleaning Fort

Mac Daddy Carpet and Tile Cleaning recommends that cleaning one's carpet should be done every 12 to 18 months. The reason for this is that carpets require cleaning from time to time. However, it is also important to realize that carpet cleaning is important for health reasons too. This is even more so during the COVID-19 pandemic, where cleanliness is a critical part of protecting one's home and family.

Carpets, whether in one's home or in an office, can quickly collect unseen dirt, bacteria, dust mites and allergens that simply cannot be removed by vacuuming alone. Although not visible on the surface, these substances are capable of contaminating the air quality that one may breathe while indoors. A carpet may be thought of as an indoor air filter. When things like dust, dirt, bacteria and dust mites collect on a carpet, one will start to breathe in that buildup over time. Merely using household carpet cleaners to remove the obvious dirt and spills is not enough to ensure the air one is breathing is as clean as possible.

By investing in professional carpet cleaning, one is ensured commercial grade, advanced equipment and non-toxic, eco-friendly cleaning products that will give carpets the deepest and most thorough cleaning possible. Bob Hahn and Tara Hahn, along with their son and daughter, Alex and Lilly Hahn, all co-own their highly in-demand cleaning business. Alex and Lilly also work as technicians who carry out the bulk of the cleaning. As members of a large family, the company understands the importance of maintaining a clean home. To quote the company, "we're about cleaning, it's what we love to do!" Their mission is to provide valued customers with an exceptional cleaning service for a reasonable, affordable price. The company has proudly served Fort Myers, Labelle and the surrounding communities since 2007.

Bonnie Marchal reviewed the company on Google, highlighting them for their "Professionalism, Punctuality and Value." She adds that, "They are a small, local business, and I found them to be very professional. I got good value for my money."

One may visit the company website or contact them via phone or email for further inquiries. In the event customers wish to discuss any service the company provides in greater detail they are more than happy to assist and answer any questions.
