October 23, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Keetick Sanchez, a personal injury lawyer in Queens, New York, is offering her services for those seeking a car accident lawyer in Queens and throughout New York City. She runs the eponymous law firm K L Sanchez Law Office, P.C. The law firm offers free consultations for the victims seeking restitution.

According to NYC Crash Data, in 2018, New York City reported 228,047 car accidents, with many of these resulting in serious injuries. The list of car accidents includes rear-end, t-bone, and head-on car crashes. It also includes motor vehicle accidents caused by road rage, reckless driving, aggressive driving, drunk driving, impaired driving, driving while texting, and speeding. Failure to abide by traffic laws, read signals, or yielding the right-of-way is also a threat to safe driving. The data also included hit and runs, public transportation collisions, Uber and Lyft collisions, trucking collisions, motorcycle collisions, bicycle accidents, pedestrian accidents, and many more.

There are three liability rules for determining responsibility for car accidents. Under no-fault laws, anyone with a vehicle in New York requires having no-fault insurance coverage. According to no-fault laws, each driver will initially look to his or her insurance for compensation for their damages. Under the rules governing negligence, when a driver has breached a duty of care and acted irresponsibly towards another driver on the road, resulting in an accident and injuries, this driver will be deemed negligent and liable for the collision. Under comparative fault laws, which are applicable in New York state, drivers will still be able to collect compensation from the other party as long as they are partially at fault for the accident. The amount of responsibility attributed to the drivers determines the percentage of the compensation for which they are liable.

K L Sanchez Car Accident Lawyers - Queens also handles cases related to construction injuries, workers' compensation, immigration, criminal defenses, and divorce. They claim to have recovered millions of dollars in compensation for clients who have suffered injuries as a result of the negligence of other parties. The firm's methodology includes collecting evidence to prove liability, negotiating with the insurance companies. If the insurance company fails to settle, they take the case to court to ensure fair compensation for their clients.

The law firm has many glowing reviews on its website. One of them, by Carlos Rueda from Jackson Heights, says, "I came to K L Sanchez Law Office at a time where I was feeling uncertain and full of doubt. Not only did Ms.Sanchez and her team help me feel assured and hopeful towards my case, but they were also able to grant me an outcome even better than my highest expectations. When you hire K L Sanchez Law Office, you hire a team that will aggressively, yet meticulously fight for you and your case."

When asked about the firm's mission, Keetick Sanchez, the owner of the law firm, says, "We are here to help anyone stuck in a bad spot due to an accident through no fault of their own. We understand the pain one has to go through. Undue medical bills should not compound one's misery. We do our diligence with every case, and we will be with you through to the finish line. We do everything from reviewing police reports, collecting evidence and investigating the occurrence, valuing the damages, managing medical care, negotiating a settlement, holding the insurance companies accountable, and litigating a claim. We pride ourselves on our professionalism and rate of success."
