New Medical Spa: Teresa Camden MD, FACSM, based in Glen Allen, VA, is offering a weight loss medications service. There are various kinds of weight loss medications offered and the way they function will vary. Some are designed to control the individual's appetite, others will control fat absorption, and others will help the body use energy more efficiently. The kind of weight loss medication to use will be recommended by the practitioner like Dr. Teresa Camden who will base her suggestion on the person's diet, the amount of exercise that the person is currently doing, and the person's weight loss goals.

Weight loss medications can offer the advantage of helping the individual jumpstart his or her journey towards a targeted weight, whether the person wants to lose just 20 pounds, or 100 pounds, or more. Candidates for weight loss medication are people who have a body mass index of more than 27, type II diabetes, high blood cholesterol, hypertension, or a family history of obesity.

Some of the weight loss medications that can be offered by Dr. Camden include: Qsymia, which is Topamax with Phentermine; Contrave, which is Naltrexone with Bupropion; and appetite suppressants, such as Phentermine or Belviq. Some people can benefit from medications designed to stabilize their mood to help minimize cravings, such as Bupropion or Topamax. And since people vary, it may be necessary to try various dosages or weight loss medications, before finding the specific dosage and medication that works best for a particular individual. Dr. Camden can also provide lipotropic weight loss B-12 injections with methionine, choline, and inositol as a way to help burn fat while boosting the person's energy. Aside from weight loss medications, Dr. Teresa Camden's New Medical Spa also provides other services. These include the PDO thread lift, laser services, butt lift, body filler skin tightening, Latisse, retinol and skin care, chemical peel, Juvederm, Kybella, wrinkles treatment, vampire facelift and microneedling, and Botox.

The PDO thread lift treatment is an effective cosmetic method for lifting and tightening sagging skin by stimulating the production of collagen. For this particular treatment, small needles are used to implant fine, absorbable polydioxanone threads into the subcutaneous layer of the skin. This results into micro-injuries that stimulate the synthesis of collagen and tissue contraction. After a period of six months, the threads will have been absorbed into the body, leaving new collagen in their place.

Meanwhile, the Spectrum laser is used to provide laser and intense pulse light (IPL) treatments for alleviating various dermatologic conditions. Wavelength specific pulses of energy are delivered by Spectrum into the target area with only minimal discomfort.

The Spectrum laser can be used to provide various kinds of treatments, such as IPL treatments, erbium YAG skin resurfacing, tattoo removal, hair removal, and long pulsed YAG vascular reduction. IPL treatments are for reducing acne and for eliminating vascular and pigmented lesions. The erbium YAG is a less invasive technique for the treatment of sun-damaged skin and superficial wrinkles. The long pulsed YAG laser can be used to reduce the appearance of veins on the face and legs.

New Medical Spa also provides the Sculptra butt lift. This treatment makes use of a "planted seed" that stimulates the growth of tissue wherever it is placed. In fact, this treatment can grow a person's own plump tissue anywhere in the body. When it was first approved more than 10 years ago, it was used to treat facial fat loss in HIV patients.

They can also provide skin tightening with the use of a Dilute Radiesse dermal filler. This is injected to lift and tighten skin anywhere on the body by stimulating the production of elastin and collagen to grow new skin.
