

Vitamin D3 5000 IU Offered For Parents As Children Go Back To School

September 21, 2015

September 21, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

AdvantaVita, a business in Deerfield Beach, FL, has announced that they are offering their Vitamin D3 5000 IU product at a reduced price. They feel that, as children go back to school, parents have to make significant adjustments to their lives again, and this includes watching their own nutrition. By taking vitamin D3 supplements, parents can rebuild their immune system and face the world once again. The sale has been running for some time already, but has now been extended to last until Sunday, September 27. Full information is available at <http://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B00Z7G70WS>.

"Parents are always so concerned about getting their children ready for school that they forget about themselves," says Chris Johnson from AdvantaVita. "This sometimes goes to the detriment of their own health and well-being. Our supplement can address at least some of these issues. The fact that it is currently available on sale is just an extra bonus."

Research has actually shown that parents often fall ill once their children go back to school. A number of different reasons have been identified for this. First of all, it is because parents stop going on regular outdoor outings and often end up cooking quick and on the go again, meaning they receive less nutrition. Second, their children return from school with various foreign germs that parents may not have immunity to.

Interestingly, the number one reason for parents being run down once their kids return to school, is because of stress. They have spent an entire summer with their children, have made sure everything was ready for the big return, stress about how they will integrate in their new school environment, and more. This is incredibly taxing on the body and can cause the immune system to be weakened.

"We want to make sure parents take the time to look after themselves again," adds Chris Johnson. "Our supplement can help them achieve that by rebuilding their immune system." As can be seen on <http://advantavita.com/>, the goal for the company is to ensure people can live their life to the fullest every day. Having a properly supported immune system is vital to achieving that.

###

For more information about AdvantaVita, contact the company here: AdvantaVitaChris Johnson 954-719-4043 media@advantavita.com AdvantaVita 3422 SW 15 Street, Suite #9175, Deerfield Beach, FL 33442

AdvantaVita

We produce high quality nutritional supplements using the purest organic and non-GMO ingredients wherever possible.

We select the best quality products we can find using the best quality ingredients, and nothing else.

Website: <http://advantavita.com/>

Email: media@advantavita.com

Phone: 954-719-4043

Powered by PressAdvantage.com