The North East Security company based in Gateshead Vox Security Limited have been advising business owners to get specialist CCTV installation. Vox Security have been operating this service for over forty years and have amassed a large amount of experience in this field.

‘It is essential that businesses opt for a range of quotes when looking for a CCTV installer,’ said David, the owner and current head of the family run business. ‘At Vox we offer bespoke solutions to suit each individual businesses requirements, not a one size fits all off the shelf system. When looking for a qualified installer you should consider if they understand every aspect of what’s required, what areas do you want covered, monitored systems, alarm sounders. If you choose a less experienced supplier they might not have the expertise to make sure your premise is completely protected.’

CCTV systems can significantly reduce risk of burglary or damage to property. From early detection of criminal or anti-social behaviour outside your premises, to monitoring and recording of incidents within, including any accidents. A well installed high-quality CCTV system will help keep track of all activity in and around a business.

?We don?t just supply and install the best CCTV systems for premises, Vox Security also offer maintenance and repairs for all systems,? said David. ?It is essential to make sure your complete CCTV system is working correctly, there would be nothing more disastrous then having an breakdown of a camera or alarm when you are relying on that to keep your property or staff safe. Our experienced engineers have extensive knowledge of all systems and can fix and maintain all.?

Those interested can find out more about Vox Security?s CCTV Specialist Installation and maintenance services via their website Vox security Ltd, or you can call them directly Monday to Friday on 01914 422723.
