Destination Paradise has recently released an hour-long Arizona 4K relaxation film taken using an aerial drone and by other means. The video can be viewed on its YouTube channel. Arizona is a southwestern U.S. state, and is best known for the Grand Canyon, the mile-deep chasm that was carved by the Colorado River. Flagstaff, a ponderosa pine-covered mountain town in Arizona, is a primary gateway to the Grand Canyon. Other natural sites found in the state, include the Saguaro National Park, which protects the cactus-filled Sonoran Desert landscape. Tucson is home to the University of Arizona territory and also for the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum.

Arizona is the sixth largest and the 14th most populous among the 50 states. Its capital is Phoenix, which is also its biggest city. Historically, Arizona was part of the territory of Alta California in New Spain and later on, in 1821, it became part of independent Mexico. After Mexico was defeated by the US, Mexico ceded a large portion of the state to the US in 1848. And the southernmost part of the state was bought by the US in 1853 through the Gadsden Purchase.
