July 26, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

PA based Lancaster Roofing Company LLC (LRC) is pleased to announce that they are offering professional roofing services for residential and commercial properties. The company is currently standing by to work with new customers who need their assistance.

Lancaster Roofing Company LLC is an Amish-owned roofing company founded by Melvin Beiler. The same values that his faith has instilled into him ? honesty, excellence and hard work ? are the same principles that he applies to his business. As such, Lancaster Roofing Company does not view a customer?s roof as just another project. They understand just how important roofs are to protecting their customers and their loved ones. This is why they strive to give their best to every project. The company always prioritizes giving great service and offering an excellent customer experience.

Lancaster Roofing Company LLC is skilled, knowledgeable and experienced in providing both residential and commercial roof repair and roof replacement services. They are committed to providing top-tier services that fully satisfy their customers' needs. The company has been certified by GAF, which is the largest manufacturer of roofing products on the planet. To earn this certification, they had to go through an intensive process of training, testing and ongoing education. This process helps Lancaster Roofing Company LLC make sure that they are excellent in all aspects of roof installation and roof repair. Their excellence is reflected in their A+ rating by the Better Business Bureau.

Although Lancaster Roofing Company LLC is already an excellent company that provides top-quality roofing services, they are not yet satisfied with where they currently are. They are still striving to improve themselves so that they could become the #1 roofing and siding contractor in Pennsylvania. They are moving towards this goal by consistently and continuously providing their customers with the best service, workmanship and value possible.

Lancaster Roofing Company LLC's service areas include Lancaster, Strasburg, Lititz, Millersville, New Holland and many more towns and cities in Pennsylvania.

The company offers a wide variety of residential roofing services, but they specialize in residential roof repairs. Houses may have roofs that seem to be in good condition but actually have damaged areas that can shorten their lifespan. The company can properly evaluate the current condition of their customers' roofs and present various options. They discuss each option clearly so that their customers can choose which one works best for them. Lancaster LRC also offers brand new roof installations. They have a wide range of different roofing products available. They can help their customers choose the roof that best meets their needs and wants by providing all information needed to make an informed decision. Lancaster Roofing Company LLC assures everyone that they will not try to sell products that homeowners do not need or want.

Customers have had nothing but great things to say about Lancaster Roofing Company LLC and their services. This can be seen in the reviews they have received on their Google business listing.

Shaun D. says in a 5-Star Google review, "We are extremely satisfied with the job Melvin and his team did on our roof. The entire process and experience was a very positive one, and the roof looks great! I spent a good deal of time researching roofers in the Lancaster area and looking at work done in our neighborhood. I'm very glad I chose LRC. Melvin's prices were very fair and the workmanship is top-notch. On top of the great work, Melvin went out of his way to accommodate my schedule and explain all of my options in depth to ensure I was a happy customer. He really goes the extra mile. Probably one of the best customer service experiences I have ever had!"

Laurel G. says in another 5-Star Google review, "Melvin is nothing short of fantastic. He helped us out in a pinch by coming to inspect the roof on a property we were buying during a brief contingency period. He provided a thorough inspection report and estimate to fix the required work. Beyond this, his warmth, flexibility and excellent customer service had us feeling well taken care of. We will be calling Melvin shortly to do the repair work needed.?
