Online hair loss mentor and advisor Spencer Stevenson of Spexhair.com is celebrating his two years of co-hosting the radio, The Bald Truth. Spexhair.com is a website dedicated to helping people who suffer from hair loss. The radio show provides a wealth of information on the subject, as well as on hair restoration. Spencer Stevenson of Spexhair.com has been able to help the show reach 100,000 individual listeners.

"I have loved doing weekly radio shows through The Bald Truth," says Spencer Stevenson. "I decided long ago to help people through their 'journey' of dealing with hair loss, which is both an emotional and physical journey, and I believe that giving people an opportunity to connect to a real person anonymously is a special gift. It makes them feel less alone and confused. I went through the same journey myself, so I understand how they feel. And over the past years, I have been able to build up a wealth of knowledge on how to treat hair loss. Sharing this knowledge is my mission in life."

The Bald Truth was created by Spencer Kobren. Kobren also suffers from hair loss and he had a similar mission as what Stevenson did. He has achieved that by creating the website and forum where anybody can find information on treating hair loss and the potential benefits of hair restoration. He also launched The Bald

Truth radio show some 15 years ago. He feels that inviting Spencer Stevenson to join him for the UK hair loss show has been one of the best decisions he has ever made. He believes this is demonstrated by the fact that they now have over 100,000 individual listeners per show.

Spencer Kobren states: "Spencer Stevenson is truly dedicated to giving back to the community. He understands like no other how hard it is to lose one's hair, and he has tried every remedy in the book. Sharing his insights on this, coupled with his passion to finding a way to restore his hair is truly inspirational. I am honored to co-host the show with him, providing people a real way to treat this condition."
