myKarateStore.com LLC is hosting a February flash sale on their foam covered staffs. Customers who would like a discount off the order total are invited to use coupon code FEBRUARYFOAM when making their next purchase for a foam covered staff.

myKarateStore.com offers two types of combat staffs from Tiger Claw, a high-end martial arts manufacturer that is known for their quality products. Currently, these tough, durable staffs are available for $52.00 and $56.00, respectively. By using FEBRUARYFOAM at checkout, customers can bring this already affordable price down even further.

According to the store, the foam covered staffs are suitable for use in a variety of scenarios, but they are designed specifically to withstand the rigors of competition. These staffs also represent the latest in Tiger Claws? advancements in safety-focused design. As a result, their users can rest assured there is a minimal risk of injury despite the staff?s firm, sturdy nature. Each combat staff has a lightweight PVC core that lends it a precise degree of flexibility, and the outer material is a durable black vinyl. Each weapon weighs no more than 3 lbs.

As longtime customers are aware, myKarateStore.com has been an active member of the martial arts community since they first launched. The store aims to encourage new generations to take an interest in martial arts in addition to supplying established practitioners with all the gear they may need for either practice at home or large-scale competitions. This February flash sale is only the latest in a long line of promotional offers that aim to lower the bar for entry for a wide variety of martial arts disciplines, and customers who check the store regularly will often find uniforms and other equipment available for highly attractive prices.

Whether you are just starting out or are preparing to take the next step in your martial arts journey, the store states, it is our fervent desire to make sure you have all the equipment and tools you need to practice both safely and effectively. Our partners are among the most well-known brands in the world, and we are delighted to see our customers put these products to good use. In addition to Tiger Claw, myKarateStore.com offers products from Adidas, Everlast, KWON, Tokaido Japan and more. Along with expected listings, such as uniforms, the store gives customers the opportunity to browse through a large selection of martial arts-focused items, from body armor and punching bags to books and DVDs from experts in their respective fields.

For instance, one of the most popular training tools in the martial arts world is the Wing Chun Dummy, a wooden dummy that practitioners use to hone their skills when not facing a live opponent. Also called Muk Yan Jong and Mu ren zhuang, the company explains via their website, the dummy is used in Wing Chun to practice attack and defense, combinations, soft structure and other concepts of Wing Chun. Other Chinese martial arts have also incorporated wooden dummies into their training methods, including Choy Lee Fut and Jeet Kune Do. Wing Chun Dummies were traditionally made of wood, with the trunk of a tree for the body - and arms made from branches. myKarateStore.com offers Wing Chun Dummies as well, from Tiger Claw, Century and so on.

The store's community focus also led it to create the Warrior Scholarship in 2021 where the company offered a winner $500 to help martial artists address the cost of furthering their education. The program was open to all martial arts styles.

Practitioners are welcome to browse the store today for all their martial arts needs. Friends and family members who wish to support a loved one's progress are also welcome to make use of the store's gift card program or contact a representative at myKarateStore.com LLC for more information.
