Schollegiate College Prep and Tutoring, a Michigan based company, has found the answer to the burnout caused by too much fundraising with little result. The company has designed their method to assist schools which are strapped for cash, and approaching fundraising the wrong way. They hope to encourage parents, teachers, and other administration to re-evaluate their efforts and regroup using an entirely new formula based on a free 90 minute class, seen online at <http://op.schollegiate.com/freeclass/>.

The course is an alternative method to the traditional fundraising often covered by schools, and proposes a unique new style of earning in bulk. Schools partnering with Schollegiate College Prep and Tutoring will invite parents to sit in on the free class, which covers a broad range of subject matter. For every parent who chooses to follow up with the company in regards to a discovery meeting with the firm, the school earns $50. Schollegiate has said the following regarding one school's experience with this method of fundraising: "Our goal is to partner with local schools and offer this event as a fundraising opportunity. The Rochester Adams High school PTA invited Schollegiate to give their presentation to their parents. Most of the families were extremely pleased with the information provided and some even wanted to learn more. If parents took the next step and scheduled a meeting with the firm, Schollegiate offered to give the PTA $50 for everyone that scheduled a discovery meeting. Two of these fundraising events have brought in over $1000 to the school. It's definitely a win/win. The PTA is happy and the parents are thrilled not to have to sell popcorn or magazine subscriptions."

Topics discussed in the class include "What Can You Do Now To Explore Careers," "Find Out If Your Economic Difficulties Could Result In A Financial Aid Windfall," "When To Apply For Aid To Get The Most Money," "What Juniors Must Do Now To Maximize Their Aid," and many more. These subjects are designed to provide valuable information on the college admissions process and financial aid. Additional information on these subjects can also be seen through the company's social media platform at <https://www.facebook.com/SchollegiateCollegeAdvisors?pnref=lhc>.

The company has said that this new found method of fundraising works for sports teams, after school clubs, and various other extracurricular activity groups and teams. More information on the class can be found at <http://www.schollegiate.com/free-class-2/>.
