Brooklyn pedestrian accident lawyer Samantha Kucher (<https://www.rrklawgroup.com/car-accident-lawyer/new-york-city-pedestrian-injury-lawyer/>) releases a new article that discusses the leading causes of pedestrian accidents in NYC. The lawyer mentions that New York is generally considered a pedestrian-friendly place with some of the most significant rates of pedestrian traffic in the country.

According to the Brooklyn pedestrian accident lawyer, "Without the same safety protections as a driver, pedestrians are far more vulnerable when they are involved in a motor vehicle accident. Even at relatively low speeds, a pedestrian can be seriously injured."

The lawyer explains that New York is a vehicle-centric city which means that the pedestrians share the streets with passing cars or other types of vehicles. Due to the negligence of some drivers, the sidewalk can be potentially dangerous for the pedestrians who use it every day.

Attorney Kucher says that there are many causes of pedestrian accidents in the city. These causes include speeding, distracted drivers, driver fatigue, aggressive driving, school zone accidents, drug-impaired driving, alcohol-impaired driving, and failure to yield the right of way.

In the article, attorney Kucher explains that oftentimes, drivers are responsible for pedestrian accidents. However, there are cases where the accidents are caused by the pedestrians themselves. This is why it is important for every pedestrian walking the streets of New York to read and understand the basic pedestrian laws of the city.

Furthermore, the accident attorney adds that a motor vehicle accident involving a pedestrian can lead to serious injuries and sometimes, fatalities. Regardless of the impact, an accident may still cause devastating injuries that can last for a long time and even become permanent for some.

The lawyer enumerates the common injuries suffered by victims of pedestrian accidents in the city. This includes compound fractures, crushed bones, traumatic brain injuries, internal bleeding, paralysis, amputation, post-traumatic stress disorder, and wrongful death.

Lastly, attorney Samantha Kucher says that it is very important to seek the help of a pedestrian accident lawyer if someone has been the victim of a pedestrian accident. Having a skilled attorney may be able to help the victim receive the compensation they deserve.
