Colorado Springs, CO ? Pack & Ship Plus, a shipping store in Colorado Springs, CO is excited to showcase the addition of fair-trade certified quilling cards to the list of products they offer in-house.

Quilling has an especially diverse background, as it has roots in several different continents around the globe. There are conflicting beliefs as to the exact time frame and location of the emergence of quilling as an art form. However, many posit that early sightings of quilling were found in ancient Egypt and were inspired by filigree art.

According to Quilling Card, a certified member of the Fair-Trade Federation, ?quilling has persevered through time, most notably making its mark throughout the Western world. During the Renaissance, nuns and monks would roll gold-gilded paper trimmed from books to adorn religious objects, mimicking costly gold filigree. In later years, quilling continued to be practiced throughout Europe as it caught on as a leisurely activity for affluent women. They would adorn objects such as picture frames, baskets, and jewelry boxes.?

Pack & Ship Plus has a large collection of fair-trade certified quilling cards available. "Our customers love quilling cards! They are blank inside so they can write a totally unique message and then send with a shadowbox frame so it can be displayed and read years later," states Pack & Ship Plus owner Noelle Wright.
