

Oregon Dental Staffing Creates Innovative Way To Find Dental Jobs

November 19, 2015

November 19, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Oregon Dental Staffing, based in Williams, OR, has created an innovative new method to connect dental employees with dental jobs. Offices which need to fill staff positions as well as individuals looking for work can use the website, which is located at <http://oregondentalstaffing.com/>, to find what they need within the dental community. The company describes itself as follows: "Oregon Dental Staffing is the Northwest's online dental job board dedicated to connecting dental employers with dental employees. Designed by a dental professional for dental professionals in an easy to use website dedicated to the practice of Dentistry."

Those seeking positions are able to build a profile, complete with updated resume, and search for jobs by description, full-time or part-time classification, as well as location. Similarly, dental clinics who wish to hire new staff can post openings for applications, or search applications for a suitable match based on resume and other information entered.

Creating an account for resume posting and job searching is free through Oregon Dental Staffing, making it cheaper and easier to reach out to the dental industry within the state than by other forms of online job search. The company provides information on these services through their social media accounts, such as their Facebook page, found at <https://www.facebook.com/oregondentalstaffing/>, and they encourage clients to contact them not only to utilize these services, but to offer reviews and testimonials. The team at Oregon Dental Staffing explains: "Although in it's infancy, we want to bring you what you need, and Oregon Dental Staffing encourages you to communicate with us. Our goal is to provide you with the necessary information in the shortest period of time. If there's anything you'd like to see that would make this site more useful, please don't hesitate to contact us."

The high level of client awareness and customer service is setting the brand apart from other job search methods within the field of dentistry. Those who are using the site to find jobs or hire employees within the dental industry can also follow tweets online at <https://twitter.com/ORdentalstaff>. This allows dental clinics and potential employees to see updates on new jobs or employees as well is to interact with the company directly.
