

Financing For Moving Now Available At MyProMovers

June 14, 2022

Washington, District of Columbia - June 14, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

McLean, VA based MyProMovers is pleased to announce that new financing options are now available as part of their core services. With expenses rising across the board for local families and individuals alike, the company has taken a firm step to ensure that their community has access to more flexible alternatives that will prevent their planned move from suffering any delays.

To accomplish this, MyProMovers took a close look at the available opportunities and ultimately decided to partner with Enhancify, a service that effectively gives their customers the ability to turn their moving costs into an affordable monthly payment. In fact, they may be eligible for 0% financing under the right circumstances. MyProMovers offers their community an easy, hassle-free means to compare all their financing options as well; all they need to do is visit the company's affiliate page on Enhancify and enter their details. This process generally takes less than a minute, and the company assures that it will have no impact on a customer's credit score. It is fast, straightforward and risk-free.

Other than the customer's personal details, Enhancify's built-in calculator allows users to freely adjust three factors to estimate what their monthly payments will be. The factors in question are the total amount being borrowed, the Annual Percentage Rate (APR) and the expected length of the full financing term. The calculation is done in real-time, so there is also no need to wait.

“Get your move financed,” states MyProMovers, “and give yourself some breathing room. We understand that communities across the nation are experiencing difficulties making ends meet, and we are committed to doing everything in our power to keep offering our services without adding an unnecessary burden. We have found that customers are still looking for great moving services but simply needed easier ways to pay for it. With the rise of monthly payment options like Affirm, Afterpay, Klarna, and so on, MyProMovers felt that customers seeking moving services should have the same flexible options to pay for their move. Thanks to our partner, Enhancify, this is now both possible and convenient.”

The company is highly cognizant of the fact that moving can be highly stressful for anyone, and their new partnership is the latest step in their mission to make relocation much less of a hardship for their customers. The company has long specialized in offering a swift, professional service that takes the lion’s share of the responsibility of moving off their customers’ shoulders, protecting their valuable and fragile items during transit and ensuring that they are all delivered within an acceptable time frame. Should the customer make the request, the company is also happy to provide packing and storage services. In fact, many of the services they offer can be tailored to a customer’s needs and preferences. Some may only need labor for their move, for instance, in which case the company is also pleased to be of service.

Their commitment to being as customer-friendly as possible has not gone unappreciated. Brenda B. says in their 5-Star review, “My experience with MyProMovers was excellent from beginning to end. The young lady (Kendall) who helped me with reserving the move and the gentlemen who did the moving were great, professional, very nice and patient. I was impressed with their truck and loading equipment – which basically helped to protect my furniture from any breakage and made the handling of my furniture and belongings much easier. Joseph D., the project supervisor, made sure everything was wrapped so that no drawers opened during the move and that all mirrors were protected, and he protected my interests by taking a photo showing that I had vacated the storage unit.”

The review concludes, “The move took place without breakage, the price was reasonable, and upon delivery the movers made sure they placed my items so I could easily manage them after they departed. If I need to move again, I will use MyProMovers.”

Anyone concerned with the rising cost of moving need only visit MyProMovers’ dedicated page on Enhancify to see an estimate on their minimum monthly payments (and then view offers from thousands of lenders if they proceed). A link to this page can be found on the official MyProMovers website. Customers may also contact the company's representatives directly for further assistance.
