Santa Ana, California - June 20, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Santa Ana, California: Baltic Iron Doors, California's leading luxury iron door manufacturers, offers Mediterranean Entryway designs with their custom iron doors. The announcement came following the company's preparations to expand its iron door services in California. Baltic Iron Doors Mediterranean front door designs are meant to enhance the visuals and safety of a home.

Solid iron door sales have risen dramatically over the last ten years. Most houses prefer the style and durability of iron doors over conventional wooden, glass, or steel entry doors. Baltic Iron Doors is a reputed iron door manufacturer that offers clients everything from door handles to intricate custom doors. By expanding its range of designs, the company aims to ensure its services can benefit a wider customer base. According to a top company insider, their goal is to combine luxury and design in their work to give a sense of elegance and beauty to homes and to create an estate-like entryway. They believe this unique Mediterranean design will bring them closer to their goals because it will allow them to provide their customers with unique entrances and lavish ambiance that has lasting quality.

"We've been in the business for years as one of the best full-service iron door manufacturers in California, specializing in a wide variety of custom door designs. We felt it was time to add to our designs and enhance the services we offer," said Jean Carlo Balta, CEO and President of Baltic Iron Doors. "Even though it might seem natural to assume that all iron doors have the same design elements, Mediterranean doors are actually characterized by special elements that distinguish them from other doors."

The Mediterranean designs fit into Baltic Iron Doors' strategy to add to its iron door designs. By customizing Mediterranean doors and entryways, they expect to add to their innovative custom designs while also boosting the quality of their services. Baltic Iron Doors' mission is to create beautiful and ornate custom wrought iron doors designed and crafted by their designers. With their custom design services, they believe they can build on their reputation as a top-tier wrought iron door maker and add to the quality and satisfaction their customers look for.
