March 24, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dr. Kourosh Harounian a board-certified podiatrist, who is based in Los Angeles, CA, is pleased to announce that they now have the Saorsa Swift microwave therapy machine that they use for treating plantar warts. The Saorsa Swift machine is designed to apply a small dose of microwave energy to the area of the foot that is affected by a plantar wart to rapidly increase its temperature as a way to stimulate the innate immune response that will then act against the wart.

Just like other warts, plantar warts are caused by a person having direct contact with the human papilloma virus (HPV). Warts may clear up by themselves but this may take a long time. And with regards to plantar warts, which are located on the soles of the feet, can cause a lot of pain and suffering. Since the soles of the feet are often exposed to a lot of pressure, such as when one is walking, running, and other activities, plantar warts can cause much pain. The Swift microwave therapy machine may help in getting rid of the plantar warts much more quickly. The low dose of microwave energy penetrates deep into the affected tissue and this causes its temperature to increase rapidly, which stimulates the body's natural immune response.

The Saorsa Swift microwave therapy machine has been found to be very effective in getting rid of plantar warts. Furthermore, it is regarded as a safe treatment because it uses just a small dose of microwave energy that is directed on the affected area. However, some patients who have certain conditions are advised to consult first with a physician if they want to get the treatment. These include women who are pregnant or breastfeeding; those who are immune-suppressed; those who have a pacemaker; people who have metal plates or pins in their feet; those who have conditions that affect the capability of the body to heal; and those who are suffering from poor circulation. Those who would like to know more about the Los Angeles Podiatrist may check out their page for wart removal at <https://www.lafootlaser.com/services/plantar-wart-removal/>.

The Saorsa Swift microwave therapy machine offers safer treatments, cleaner treatments, quick recovery, and proven results. It is cleaner because there is no smoke, no need for an anesthetic, and there is no post-procedural dressing. Microwaves have been used for clinical applications for more than 30 years and have been noted to provide effective treatment for cancer internationally. And because there is no need for bandages and there is minimal post procedural pain, patients are able to get back to their daily activities right after the treatment and recovery will be quick. And finally, the Swift technology is quickly gaining the reputation of being a reliable and effective treatment alternative because of their rapidly growing database of successful treatments throughout the world.

The Los Angeles Podiatrist is Dr. Kourosh Harounian who obtained his BS degree in Human Physiology from UCLA and then attended the New York College of Podiatric Medicine in 1996 with an academic scholarship. He maintained a position in the Dean's list the whole time until he graduated in June 2000 with a full certification of achievement in principles of neuroscience, osteology, genetics, and immunology. He is a highly experienced and trained foot doctor based in Los Angeles who is an active participant in research and always tries to apply the most recent information and technology in clinical application for all of his podiatry patients of all ages. Dr. Harounian has published several articles on foot medicine, such as "Secrets of Evolution" and "On Their Toes." The staff at his podiatric clinic are fluent in English, Spanish, and Farsi.
