Calgary, Alberta - Skyhighmedia, a prominent digital marketing agency in Calgary, has announced a significant shift in its business strategy with a focus on artificial intelligence and machine learning algorithms. The goal is to provide clients with a more automated, cost-effective, and efficient approach to content marketing. "This is a defining moment for our company and the industry as a whole," said Stephen Iervella, founder and technical director of Skyhighmedia.

"Integrating AI and machine learning technologies into our services will revolutionize how our clients approach their digital marketing efforts. The first website I built for a client in 2002, when I started the company, cost over $15,000. Now anyone can create a powerful website in seconds for next to nothing."

By harnessing the power of AI, Sky high media aims to offer its clients a more personalized and targeted approach to marketing, helping them reach their target audience with the right message at the right time. The automation of various content marketing tasks will also free up valuable time and resources, enabling businesses to invest in other areas of their operations.

"Our clients are seeking cost-effective and time-efficient solutions for their digital marketing needs, and we're confident that our focus on AI will deliver just that," Stephen added.

With a wealth of experience in SEO and digital marketing, Skyhighmedia is well-positioned to help businesses improve their online presence and reach their target audience. The use of AI algorithms will also enhance the company's SEO efforts, resulting in improved search engine rankings and increased relevant traffic to client websites.

"The impact of AI on the digital marketing industry is going to be game-changing, and we're proud to be at the forefront of this transformation."

Skyhighmedia remains dedicated to staying ahead of the curve in terms of technology and innovation, and this shift in focus is a testament to that commitment. The company will continue to work closely with clients to understand their unique needs and provide customized solutions to meet those needs.

"We're eager to lead the charge in the Calgary digital marketing scene with our innovative AI-powered solutions," Iervella concluded.
