GERO, a gun accessories business in Federal Heights, CO, is proud to announce that they have launched their new website. The GERO website lists all of the various products that the company offers, as well as provides advice, information and guidance on firearms accessories. The company is incredibly proud of the site design and is heartened to see customers already leaving positive reviews not just about the products, but the new site as well.

"We wanted to create a website that does more than just showcase products and give people the opportunity to buy them," says Isaac Salguero from GERO. "We wanted it to be a place for solid information and support, news and a community. We feel that our new website has achieved that."

GERO is one of the most respected producers of gun magnets and other accessories. They create these products believing that people should be able to express their rights and to stand in solidarity for liberty. Their products are designed to enable maximum preparedness and to be there when it truly matters.

One of their most popular products is the Quick-Draw Gun Magnet. This can be installed in any location and can hold up to 25 lbs in weight, making it perfect for large pistols and guns as well. "Got my Gero and I was out in my truck hunting today bouncing and banging all over and the gun stayed perfectly still," says Corey

Dalton. "Maybe print the company name on the side of the magnet. The logo is coming off from grabbing my gun off it and putting it back on. Other than that it works perfectly. Very happy."

GERO sells a number of other products as well. The gun magnet is their most popular product, but they also manufacture hangers, gun cases, gun accessories and a number of stickers. Their stickers, which all state 'I Plead the Second', come in a range of different designs and are true bestsellers.

The company is committed to developing high quality products and encourages everyone to visit and bookmark their new site in order to stay up to date with new developments, special offers and industry specific news.
