Residents in Arlington Heights, IL, who have ambitious plans for a basement makeover, are urged to find out more about the home improvement services offered by Premier Kitchen & Bath Remodeling.

Finishing a basement may be the only way for some homeowners to add more usable space to their property due to regional zoning laws. While the basement area does not count toward the final square footage of a home during resale, the presence of one is likely to get many buyers interested in the property. Some of the ways that a basement space can be utilized are as a play area for the kids or creating additional bedrooms, bathrooms, offices, or entertainment areas.

Some recommendations for creating an appealing underground living space include creating tray ceilings instead of suspended ceilings, having stairwells with banisters, adding a couple of windows, paneling the walls with aesthetically consistent patterns, and painting it according to the intended purpose.

“On average, finishing a basement will return you 70 to 75% of your investment,” says the spokesperson for Premier Kitchen & Bath Remodeling. “While this might not seem like a lot, you are undoubtedly going to get a lot of use out of the space over time. Whether it be your personal man cave or a place for families to gather and bond after Thanksgiving lunch, it will be a place to create indelible memories that can’t be quantified in terms of money.”

Premier Kitchen & Bath Remodeling is a Certified Remodeling Company that specializes in Residential Home Remodeling. Rated at an A+ by the Better Business Bureau, Premier offers Chicagoland customers three-year workmanship and labor warranties, three times longer than the one-year warranties its competitors offer.
