For this inspection, which is a favorite of insurance companies and realtors because of its unbiased nature, they will they examine 25 elements of the roof and other external parts of the home. These include the: inspection of step counter flashing; inspection of skylights; aircon unit exterior inspection; inspection of valleys; eaves and rakes inspection; inspection of storm damage caused by the wind; inspection of step and counter flashing; roof edging inspection; ventilation inspection; soffits and fascia inspection; inspection of gutter aprons; drip edge inspection; inspection of roof sheathing or decking; plumbing stack inspection; nail head inspection; roof ventilation and exhaust system inspection; window inspection; hip and ridge inspection; gutters inspection; inspection of siding; chimney inspection; inspection of furnace caps and pipes; inspection of storm damage caused by hail; attic inspection; foundation drainage inspection; and downspouts inspection.

In this vault are kept the home's exterior records, photos, products used, reports, warranties, communication, referrals, maintenance records, and inspection reports. With this vault, it is easy for the client and the roofing contractor to refer to any formation they require.

In addition to the initial roof inspection service they provide, Mighty Dog Roofing of West Houston also offers their Watchdog Maintenance service. This is intended to ensure that any minor issue with the roof is found out as early as possible. This will allow them to provide the appropriate fix for the issue as soon as possible to avoid serious problems in the future that will be expensive to repair. They will do the inspections of the roof and other exterior components of the home yearly and provide a report. These annual reports will also be stored in the Customer Vault for that specific homeowner. These yearly reports are then compared with each other as a way to find out how long the roof can last. This can allow the homeowner to be prepared for the major expense of a roof replacement.

The Curb Appeal Visualizer is an app that is also provided by Mighty Dog Roofing for the convenience of the homeowner. This app can run on any mobile device, enabling the homeowner to visualize how the house would appear when utilizing a specific color or roofing material, etc. The client can try a number of combinations until they find the appearance of the home that they prefer.
